Ministry of Finance and National Planning. Planning and Economic Management Department,2002 Social Policy and Human Development in Zambia Ndangwa Noyoo,2010-01-30 Social Policy And Human Development In Zambia discusses social policy and human development endeavours in Zambia including the various societal forces that converged on the country in both the pre colonial and colonial periods and which later influenced post colonial social policy initiatives The pre colonial era epitomised indigenous forms of social protection that safeguarded the well being of Africans Colonial rule which was foreign in orientation was geared towards meeting the needs of a small European settler population through social policy programmes Most of the discussions in the book unfold in the setting of a post colonial society The central thesis of the book is that social policy and human development in Zambia are inextricably bound up with the political and economic forces in the country and that they constantly reinforce each other Politics is taken as an important variable that legitimises the role of politicians and policy makers in determining the development path of the country Thus their efficacy lack of depth or ineptitude will be translated into the way public policies including social policy are formulated and implemented Given the normative nature of social policy it is argued that ideology plays a critical role in both its formulation and execution This argument is brought home by showing how the socialist government in Zambia during the 1960s and 1970s relied upon ideology to marshal social policy towards the goal of national development Based on the analyses of different political eras in the country the book also argues that the economy is the central pillar in the implementation of social policy and the provision of social services Information Magazine ,2007

Maintaining Universal Primary Education Council for Education in the Commonwealth (Great Britain),2009 Explores the various economic political and social pressures which may affect the progress of educational provision as well as the different national educational policies and strategies themselves as they play out in five very different Commonwealth African countries Ghana Kenya Nigeria Tanzania and Zambia Zambia, Poverty Reduction Strategy Paper Progress Report ,2005

Disha Experts,2021-08-01 Bridges and Barriers Eddie Williams,2014-06-03 Recent decades have seen sub Saharan Africa decline in both economic and human terms The rich North has responded with a barrage of well publicized initiatives from pop concerts to international commitments on debt relief aid trade and good governance Among the complex of factors necessary to sustain economic and human development education receives little media coverage although it is crucial However education must be effective This book argues that in Anglophone Africa education is not effective because of the use of English rather than children s first languages both as the medium of instruction and also as the language in which children are first taught to read Research is presented from Malawi and Zambia countries with contrasting language policies using evidence from tests in English and African languages small group discussions and classroom observation The findings show that English medium policies in Africa do not give students any advantage in English over first language policies while the use of English discriminates against girls and rural children The book concludes that much education in Africa is a barrier rather than a bridge to learning because of the prevailing language ideology which has resulted in massive over estimation of the value of English While appropriate language policies alone will not solve education and development difficulties in Africa they do have a positive contribution to make The evidence presented here suggests they are failing to make that contribution The Palaeolithic Settlement of Asia Robin Dennell,2008-12-15 This book provides the first analysis and synthesis of the evidence of the earliest inhabitants of Asia before the appearance of modern humans 100 000 years ago Asia has received far less attention than Africa and Europe in the search for human origins but is no longer considered of marginal importance Indeed a global understanding of human origins cannot be properly understood without a detailed consideration of the largest continent In this study Robin Dennell examines a variety of sources including the archaeological evidence the fossil hominin record and the environmental and climatic background from Southwest Central South and Southeast Asia as well as China He presents an authoritative and comprehensive framework for investigations of Asia s oldest societies challenges many long standing assumptions about its earliest inhabitants and places Asia centrally in the discussions of human evolution in the past two million years Language Planning and Policy Ashraf

Abdelhay, Sinfree Makoni, Cristine Severo, 2020-02-13 Language policy is heterogeneous and varies according to its object levels of intervention purpose participants and institutions involved underlying language ideologies local contexts power relations and historical contexts This volume offers unique cross cultural perspectives on language planning and policy in diverse African and Middle Eastern contexts including South Africa Bahrain Sudan Saudi Arabia Morocco Zambia and Algeria The African diaspora is also considered as is the case of Brazil By bringing together diverse contexts in Africa and the Middle East this volume encourages a dialogue in the burgeoning scholarship on language policies in different regions of Africa and the Middle East in order to inspect the intersection between language policy discourses and their social political and educational functions
