Collapsing Structures and Public Mismanagement Wolfgang Seibel, 2022-01-07 This open access book is about mismanagement of public agencies as a threat to life and limb Collapsing bridges and buildings kill people and often leave many more injured Such disasters do not happen out of the blue nor are they purely technical in nature since construction and maintenance are subject to safety regulation and enforcement by governmental agencies This book analyses four relevant cases from Australia New Zealand the USA and Germany Arguing that while preventing disaster through public oversight is essentially easy the difficult part for public officials and private contractors and consultants alike is to resist incentives that threaten professional skills and standards Rather than stressing well known pathologies of bureaucracy as a potential source of disaster this book argues learning for the sake of prevention should aim at neutralizing threats to integrity and strengthening a sense of responsibility among public officials

The Just Culture Principles in Aviation Law Francesca Pellegrino, 2019-09-09 This book reviews and critically analyzes the current legal framework with regard to a more just culture for the aviation sector This new culture is intended to protect front line operators in particular controllers and pilots from legal action except in the case of willful misconduct or gross negligence by creating suitable laws regulations and standards In this regard it is essential to have an environment in which all incidents are reported moving away from fears of criminalization The approach taken until now has been to seek out human errors and identify the individuals responsible This punitive approach does not solve the problem because frequently the system itself is also at fault Introducing the framework of a just culture could ensure balanced accountability for both individuals and complex organizations responsible for improving safety Both aviation safety and justice administration would benefit from this carefully established equilibrium coordination with various items of technology and with other workers pilots other ATCOs and other types of personnel employed at airports This means that it is an activity that at the same time presupposes both individual skills and capabilities and also collective capabilities aimed at building a common space of mutual understanding and agreement with regard to the interpretive schemes to be utilised in order to deal with the multiple scenarios that can arise in the field of air traffic management The aims of the research were descriptive analytical in nature Describe the characteristics of the ATCO profession highlighting the aspects of reliability safety and management of unexpected events Describe and analyse the cognitive and organizational complexity of the ATCO s work The research also involved goals of a practical improvement kind encouraging greater awareness in terms of the operators with reference to the management of unexpected events to the cognitive and organizational complexity of air traffic control activity to the operational specificities associated with maintaining and increasing effectiveness efficiency reliability and safety in the management of air traffic The identification of improvement criteria for the initial selection and training both at the start and then ongoing of staff dedicated to air traffic control The complexity of the work of ATCOs in areas different from those of an academic professional kind in order to promote an informed exchange of expertise outside the world of the operators in the sector The research was promoted by four bodies the Societ Nazionale Assistenza al Volo ENAV S p a the Associazione Nazionale Assistenti e Controllori Navigazione Aerea ANACNA the Confederazione Italiana Sindacati dei Lavoratori FIT CISL and the Unione Italiana Controllo e Assistenza al Volo UNICA The research was carried out by a team from the Dipartimento di Sociologia e Ricerca Sociale dell Universit of Milano Bicocca composed of Maurizio Catino director of the research project Alessia Bianco Dolino Diego Coletto and Chiara Locatelli The work presents some extremely innovative features in the field of studies available today regarding the profession of air traffic controller and constitutes the first research experience in this sector at an Italian level as well as being one of first at an international level In particular these distinctive features involve on the one hand the research methodology used and on the other hand the theoretical frame of reference chosen for the analysis As far as research methodology is concerned the techniques of organizational ethnography have been employed This involved a long period of observation in the field of work itself 448 hours of observation over the course of a year making it possible to directly observe the work practices adopted by front line operators the main characteristics of the work and the specific operational needs of the profession Specifically observations were carried out in four operating locations the Area Control Centres ACCs in Rome and Milan and the Control Towers TWRs at Malpensa and Fiumicino airports

Engineering Dynamics and Vibrations Junbo Jia, Jeom Kee Paik, 2018-12-12 Engineering dynamics and vibrations has become an essential topic for ensuring structural integrity and operational functionality in different engineering areas However practical problems regarding dynamics and vibrations are in many cases handled without success despite large expenditures This book covers a wide range of topics from the basics to advances in dynamics and vibrations from relevant engineering challenges to the solutions from engineering failures due to inappropriate accounting of dynamics to mitigation measures and utilization of dynamics It lays emphasis on engineering applications utilizing state of the art information Il comportamento innovativo nelle imprese knowledge-based Sara Lombardi, 2017-04-14T00:00:00+02:00

Sviluppare una consolidata capacità innovativa ormai un imperativo per ogni impresa. Ma da dove trae origine tale capacità? Riconoscendo il contributo essenziale apportato dagli individui all'innovazione di cui le imprese necessitano per restare competitive, questo lavoro propone un modello concettuale per lo studio del comportamento innovativo dei lavoratori. Il modello combina al proprio interno fattori di natura diversa: individuali, sociali, organizzativi, di potere e contestuali, mirando a cogliere la complessità del fenomeno oggetto di studio nella sua interezza. Il modello trova inoltre una sua verifica empirica nell'analisi condotta su un campione di 24 imprese manifatturiere del territorio toscano, attori strategici del tessuto economico della Regione, oltre che realtà per le quali l'attività innovativa si pone come fattore chiave per il loro successo sul mercato. Come tali, vere e proprie knowledge intensive organizations, i risultati dell'analisi evidenziano da un lato la rilevanza delle conoscenze individuali e l'importanza di dar vita a relazioni positive con i colleghi; dall'altro lato, il rischio insito nel concentrare la capacità innovativa nelle mani di pochi star performers. Il volume intende dunque porre l'attenzione sull'apporto che la capacità innovativa può garantire al successo delle imprese e mettere in luce alcuni fattori che più di altri rappresentano delle leve vincenti affinché tale apprendimento possa realizzarsi.
