

Other bacteria are germs that ONLY make people sick. A common bacterium that is a germ that passes from person to person is streptococcus, also called strep throat. It's a germ that makes your throat really sore! We can use medicine to kill that sort of germ. Why wouldn't we use heat like with a coli?

You write: The heat needed to kill the bacteria would burn you!

3. Some bacteria are REALLY tough. they can survive freezing cold, at the bottom of the ocean, boiling water, and even radioactive waste! Thankfully, most bacteria are harmless to humans, so we don't need to worry about them. Bacteria are also tough because while they are small, under the right condition, they can multiply a lot very quickly.
