Subjective Well-Being Panel on Measuring Subjective Well-Being in a Policy-Relevant Framework, Committee on National Statistics, Division on Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, National Research Council, 2014-01-01 Subjective well being refers to how people experience and evaluate their lives and specific domains and activities in their lives This information has already proven valuable to researchers who have produced insights about the emotional states and experiences of people belonging to different groups engaged in different activities at different points in the life course and involved in different family and community structures Research has also revealed relationships between people's self reported subjectively assessed states and their behavior and decisions Research on subjective well being has been ongoing for decades providing new information about the human condition During the past decade interest in the topic among policy makers national statistical offices academic researchers the media and the public has increased markedly because of its potential for shedding light on the economic social and health conditions of populations and for informing policy decisions across these domains Subjective Well Being Measuring Happiness Suffering and Other Dimensions of Experience explores the use of this measure in population surveys This report reviews the current state of research and evaluates methods for the measurement In this report a range of potential experienced well being data applications are cited from cost benefit studies of health care delivery to commuting and transportation planning environmental valuation and outdoor recreation resource monitoring and even to assessment of end of life treatment options Subjective Well Being finds that whether used to assess the consequence of people's situations and policies that might affect them or to explore determinants of outcomes contextual and covariate data are needed alongside the subjective well being measures This report offers guidance about adopting subjective well being measures in official government surveys to inform social and economic policies and considers whether research has advanced to a point which warrants the federal government collecting data that allow aspects of the population's subjective well being to be tracked and associated with changing conditions

The Social Licence for Financial Markets David Rouch, 2020-07-13 This book is about what Mark Carney has called the social licence for financial markets and how it can point us towards a more sustainable future Author David Rouch argues that what it reveals contrasts sharply with the usual portrayals of markets as places of unrestrained financial self interest Drawing attention to a more complex reality and the presence of justice focused aspirations in finance can positively impact individual institutional and systemic behaviour change not imposed by regulators but emerging from the very substance of market relationships The finance sector should have a key role in addressing humanity's increasingly pressing sustainability challenges Yet the relationship between finance and society has not recovered from the 2008 crisis and the scandals and austerity that followed The Covid 19 pandemic and its economic fallout is sharpening some of the issues and creating new ones Recognising that financial markets operate subject to a social licence has the potential to galvanise market participants in tackling these challenges strengthening social solidarity on which markets also depend and to provide coordinates for navigating a way through the post pandemic social political and economic landscape      Systemic Entrepreneurship Gideon Maas,2015-05-12 Systemic Entrepreneurship focuses on creating an awareness of systemic entrepreneurship and illustrates the fact that one needs to approach entrepreneurial support activities from many different angles      Nothingness Jytte Bang,2017-07-05 This book addresses nothingness as not only the intangible presence of an emotional cultural social or even political void that is felt on an existential level but has some solid foundations in reality The death of a loved one the social isolation of an individual or the culture shock one may experience in another country are examples of situations in which an external sense of absence mirrors an internal psychological and philosophical sense of nothingness Not much has been explicitly written on nothingness in the history of psychology On the other hand nothingness seems to be implicitly embedded in many scholars work This duality of explicitly and implicitly expressed ideas about nothingness reveals how psychology finds inspiration in philosophy and vice versa The book aims to illustrate how the concept of the presence of absence nothingness fills a void in contemporary psychological theorizing      Developing Employability for Business Maryvonne Lumley,James Wilkinson,2013-12 This book contains coverage of topics that employers identified as important including customer facing skills and self presentation skills and with an integrated project designed to promote active learning      Library and Information Science Research in Asia-Oceania: Theory and Practice Du, Jia Tina,Zhu, Qinghua,Koronios, Andy,2014-02-28 Historically the major Library and Information Science LIS research producing centers of the world have largely been the universities and information institutions of North America the United Kingdom and Europe This is changing with the growth of Asian economies universities and information industries Library and Information Science Research in Asia Oceania Theory and Practice presents evolving and emerging research and development in the field of library and information science LIS in diverse countries in Asia Oceania as the region continues to develop This book is intended as a useful resource for LIS researchers scholars students professionals and practitioners and is an appropriate text for courses in LIS In addition anyone interested in understanding the LIS field in the region will find this book a fascinating and enlightening read      Consumer Behaviour Isabelle Szmigin,Maria Piacentini,2018 A new approach to teaching consumer behaviour incorporating the latest issues in behavioural psychological and sociological learning alongside new areas of research Practitioner commentaries including Renault and Thinkbox and extended case studies featuring Pinterest and Havaianas place this fascinating subject firmly in a real world context      The Power of Mattering Zach Mercurio,2025-05-13 Your people have a fundamental need to be seen heard and valued Increasingly people report feeling overlooked ignored and underappreciated at work Simply put they don t feel like they matter to their leaders or organizations and it s taking a toll This hidden epidemic of insignificance is fueling a mental health crisis intensifying loneliness and for organizations driving disengagement turnover and low performance The good news is that leaders can learn the skills to ensure that everyone around them feels valued and knows how they add value at work Through a captivating exploration of the emerging science of mattering and drawing from hands on work in hundreds of diverse industries and organizations researcher and speaker Zach Mercurio reveals how mattering to others is a fundamental yet often overlooked requirement for thriving He introduces a simple yet effective framework for making daily interactions with your people more meaningful Noticing the practice of seeing and hearing others Affirming the practice of showing people how their unique gifts make a difference Needing the practice of showing people they re relied on and indispensable Filled with practical advice helpful exercises and inspiring real world examples The Power of Mattering equips leaders at all levels with the tools they need to revitalize their teams and entire organizations by showing people that they matter

How and Why Does Spatial-Hearing Ability Differ among Listeners? What Is the Role of Learning and Multisensory Interactions? Guillaume Andéol, Brian D. Simpson, Ewan A. Macpherson, 2016-08-29 Spatial hearing ability has been found to vary widely across listeners A survey of the existing auditory space perception literature suggests that three main types of factors may account for this variability physical factors e g acoustical characteristics related to sound localization cues perceptual factors e g sensory cognitive processing perceptual learning multisensory interactions and methodological factors e g differences in stimulus presentation methods across studies However the extent to which these and perhaps other still unidentified factors actually contribute to the observed variability in spatial hearing across individuals with normal hearing or within special populations e g hearing impaired listeners remains largely unknown Likewise the role of perceptual learning and multisensory interactions in the emergence of a multimodal but unified representation of auditory space is still an active topic of research A better characterization and understanding of the determinants of inter individual variability in spatial hearing and of its relationship with perceptual learning and multisensory interactions would have numerous benefits In particular it would enhance the design of rehabilitative devices and of human machine interfaces involving auditory or multimodal space perception such as virtual auditory multimodal displays in aeronautics or navigational aids for the visually impaired For this Research Topic we have considered manuscripts that present new methods or review existing methods for the study of inter individual differences present new data or review existing data concerning acoustical features relevant for explaining inter individual differences in sound localization performance present new or review existing psychophysical or neurophysiological findings concerning spatial hearing and or auditory perceptual learning and or multisensory interactions in humans normal or impaired young or older listeners or other species discuss the influence of inter individual differences on the design and use of assistive listening devices rehabilitation or human machine interfaces involving spatial hearing or multimodal perception of space ergonomy

Universal Access in Human-Computer Interaction: Aging and Assistive Environments Constantine Stephanidis, Margherita Antona, 2014-05-15 The four volume set LNCS 8513 8516 constitutes the refereed proceedings of the 8th International Conference on Universal Access in Human Computer Interaction UAHCI 2014 held as part of the 16th International Conference on Human Computer Interaction HCII 2014 held in

Heraklion Crete Greece in June 2014 jointly with 14 other thematically similar conferences The total of 1476 papers and 220 posters presented at the HCII 2014 conferences was carefully reviewed and selected from 4766 submissions These papers address the latest research and development efforts and highlight the human aspects of design and use of computing systems The papers thoroughly cover the entire field of human computer interaction addressing major advances in knowledge and effective use of computers in a variety of application areas The total of 251 contributions included in the UAHCI proceedings were carefully reviewed and selected for inclusion in this four volume set The 75 papers included in this volume are organized in the following topical sections design for aging health and rehabilitation applications accessible smart and assistive environments assistive robots and mobility navigation and safety      Generational Diversity at Work Emma Parry,2017-09-29 Over the past decade much attention has been paid to the apparent differences in consumption preferences or workplace attitudes and behaviours across generations Within Western economies such as the USA UK and Australia it is commonly assumed that there are now four generations in the workplace namely Veterans born 1925 1942 Baby Boomers 1943 1960 Generation X 1961 1981 and Generation Y 1982 2000 The concept of generational differences at work is one that has recently been adopted by practitioners as a basis on which to design human resource management and career management practices However there has been some concern in academic circles about the validity of the notion of generations and the evidence base that supports it There is therefore a need for new perspectives and methodological approaches to investigating generational differences at work in order to establish the validity and value of generations as an axis of diversity Generational Diversity at Work New Research Perspectives will address this need by presenting and discussing research into generational diversity that adopts a range of new theoretical perspectives or methodological approaches This book is designed as a first step in addressing the need to critically examine the theoretical and empirical basis for generational differences and to provide some new empirical data in this area      Handbook of Autism and Anxiety Thompson E. Davis III,Susan W. White,Thomas H. Ollendick,2014-08-13 The diagnosis of autism spectrum disorder ASD has evolved greatly since Asperger s day And as our clinical understanding of this spectrum of disorders has grown so has recognition of the connections between anxiety disorders and ASD a welcome development but also a source of confusion for many in the field The Handbook of Autism and Anxiety brings together leading experts to explain this comorbidity the diagnostic similarities and differences between the two disorders and the extent to which treatment for each can be coordinated for optimum results Focusing on repetitive behaviors social difficulties and fears as core components of anxiety disorders as well as ASD contributors discuss specific symptoms in depth to aid in diagnosis Assessment and treatment issues relevant to the autism anxiety connection are considered in clinical and school contexts And an especially timely conclusion details how key changes in the DSM 5 affect the diagnosis and conceptualization of each disorder Key topics addressed in the Handbook include Phenotypic variability in ASD clinical considerations Etiologic factors and transdiagnostic

Reading McLuhan Paula McDowell,2023-02-21 Sixty years after Understanding Media Marshall McLuhan remains one of the best known and most influential intellectuals of the twentieth century Far beyond academia readers and non readers recognize his coinages such as the Gutenberg era the global village and the medium is the message A literary scholar by profession McLuhan was one of the first academics to recognize the new opportunities offered by radio and television to reach audiences beyond the readerships of scholarly journals His talks and appearances ushered in public intellectual debate concerning the electronic age Although his reputation waned in the 1970s the recent making available to the public of his extraordinary personal library of some six thousand books enables new kinds of analyses of McLuhan as a reader thinker and cultural force The essays here focus not so much on his media theory per se as on the habits and practices that animated his reading and on the larger questions of what reading and not reading mean We don t need to agree with everything McLuhan says to make valuable use of his work New resources offer us an unprecedented opportunity to revisit one fallible human reader whose texts and ideas are good to think with and against This book was originally published as a special issue of the journal Textual Practice
