Teaching International Law Jean-Pierre Gauci,Barrie Sander,2024-06-26 The practice of teaching international law is conducted in a wide range of contexts across the world by a host of different actors including scholars practitioners civil society groups governments and international organisations This collection brings together a diversity of scholars and practitioners to share their experiences and critically reflect on current practices of teaching international law across different contexts traditions and perspectives to develop existing conversations and spark fresh ones concerning teaching practices within the field of international law Reflecting on the responsibilities of teachers of international law to engage with and confront histories contemporary crises and everyday events in their teaching the collection explores efforts to decenter the teacher and the law in the classroom opportunities for dialogical and critical approaches to teaching and the possibilities of co producing non conventional pedagogies that question the mainstream underpinnings of international law teaching Focusing on the tools and techniques used to teach international law to date the collection examines the teaching of international law in different contexts Traversing a range of domestic and regional contexts around the world the book offers insights into both the culture of teaching in particular domestic settings aswell as the structural challenges and obstacles that arise in terms of who what and how international law is taught in practice Offering a unique window into the personal experiences of a diversity of scholars and practitioners from around the world this collection aims to nurture conversations about the responsibilities approaches opportunities and challenges of teaching international law Unpacking the Death Penalty in ASEAN Sriprapha Petcharamesree,Mark P. Capaldi,Alan Collins,2023-03-20 This book contributes conceptually theoretically and morally to a deeper understanding of the distinctive Asian perceptions of punishment justice and human rights Researched and prepared by scholars who have not only been conducting studies on the death penalty in the region but have also been advocating for legal reforms this edited book touches upon the different justifications for the use of capital punishment in the ASEAN region exposing the secrecy sensitivities and dilemmas that mask violations of international human rights laws The chapters bring in numerous new perspectives which have been overlooked in the traditional discourse surrounding the use of the death penalty such as that around crimes that do not meet the threshold of most serious the dignity of death row inmates and their families contradictions within religion and capital punishment and the way in which growing authoritarianism and the media are adversely influencing the public s perception and support for capital punishment in the region In examining how public opinion shapes state policies towards the death penalty and how it varies according to different offences and different states the authors critically analyse how the international human rights mechanisms have specifically called for ASEAN member states to refrain from extending the application of the death penalty and to limit it to the most serious crimes Relevant to socio legal scholars focused on crime and punishment in Southeast Asia and in the Global South more broadly this is a landmark collection in criminology and human rights scholarship Chapter ASEAN and the Death Penalty Theoretical and Legal Views and a Pathway to Abolition is available open access under a Creative Commons Attribution 4 0 International License via link springer.com Bernas V. Eduardo Malaya, Maria Antonina Mendoza- Oblena, 2016 Establishing Norms in a Kaleidoscopic World Edith Brown Weiss, 2022-02-22 We live in a kaleidoscopic world in the new Anthropocene Epoch This calls for a more inclusive public international law that accepts diverse actors in addition to States and other sources of law including individualized voluntary commitments Norms are critical to the stability and legitimacy of this international system They underlie responses to rapid change to new technological developments and to problems of protecting commons promoting public goods and providing social and economic justice Certain fundamental norms can be identified others are emerging The norm of mutual accountability underpins the implementation of other norms Norms are especially relevant to frontier do it yourself technologies such as synthetic biology digital currencies cyber activity and climate interventions as addressed in the book Reconceiving public international law lessens the sharp divide between public and private law and between domestic and international law Post-award Interest in the Asia-Pacific Kevin Kim, John Bang, 2023-03-09 The Yukos Awards are among some of the most widely discussed awards in international arbitration A remarkable point that does not receive the interest it deserves is the fact that post award interest has added USD 7 billion to the awarded value making a considerable impact on arguably the biggest case to be handled via international arbitration Even though post award interest can have very serious economic consequences most attention in academic literature to the question of interest is limited to pre award interest where the discussion revolves around formulaic approaches towards ensuring that pre award interest is accounted for in claims for compensation Post award interest is either ignored completely or when discussed there is not enough appreciation of the complex questions in terms of conflict of law specific jurisdictional issues among others that are central to any reasonable discussion of post award interest Responding to the dearth of attention paid to this very serious but often overlooked area this text provides an in depth analysis of the subject ensuring comprehensive coverage of all relevant issues in major Asian Pacific and Middle Eastern jurisdictions arguably the fastest growing economic regions in the world The book is structured in a manner where a leading lawyer from a jurisdiction has contributed a chapter providing analysis on all possible questions that a reader may have in relation to post award interest The eighteen jurisdictions that have been covered are Australia Hong Kong India Indonesia Japan Malaysia Myanmar New Zealand Pakistan People s Republic of China the Philippines the Republic of Korea Singapore Taiwan Thailand Qatar United Arab Emirates and Vietnam Each chapter provides an in depth analysis of the law on post award interest including questions of private international law while simultaneously providing practical guidance on the following questions power to award post award interest determination of applicable rate procedural questions public policy issues and role of national courts The text is structured in an easy to use manner with each author responding to the same set of questions making comparative research across jurisdictions very easy and efficient Parties and counsel involved in arbitral proceedings with a nexus to the jurisdictions covered in this book will find the insights provided valuable and unquestionably so will arbitral tribunals From an academic perspective this publication is sure to lead to further debate on the topic Policymakers may also take inspiration from comparing the approach taken in other jurisdictions on matters of post award interest when refining the legal framework in their home jurisdictions This book will hopefully contribute to the ongoing efforts to bring about consistency and predictability in the manner in which tribunals deal with damages in general and post award interest in particular the vulnerabilities of the global food system Governments across Asia exacerbated the crisis by imposing export restrictions based on a policy of self sufficiency This book assesses whether self sufficiency is an adequate response to the food security challenges we face Pricing volatility drives isolationism at a time when climate change and increasingly uncertain weather patterns make it difficult for any single nation to guarantee adequate food production for itself Through a collection of commissioned studies which draw upon the experience of leading experts and scholars in trade investment law economics and food policy this book analyses the impact of this trend on the most essential crop in the Asian region rice It suggests that food security policy should be reconceptualised from the national to the regional and even the global level It also provides its own proposals as to how this new paradigm of collective food security should be understood and developed The book calls for a new conversation in the region acknowledging that the challenges we face are global and the solutions must be found in collective action This state of the art study will appeal to lawyers economists and political scientists as well as food security specialists by providing expert analyses and enlightening solutions for the future Index to Foreign Legal Periodicals,1969 International Law and World Organizations Jorge Rioflorido Coquia,Miriam Defensor-Santiago,2005
