Drink Water and Mind Your Business Dr. Donna Oriowo, 2025-05-13 Self esteem ain't self taught and it does see color Let's be real society was not built with the needs of Black women in mind And as a result we learn that the only way to feel good about ourselves is to prioritize everyone else's needs over our own We find our value in being the perfect partner mother daughter employee and friend But that is exhausting Instead of feeling good about how dope we are regardless of our service bank account or looks we only feel good about what we do for others Supremacy culture teaches us to hate Black people to hate women and to especially hate Black women except when they need us to either save them or serve them So in a world where our service is required for acceptance how could we ever feel good about ourselves while also giving the middle finger to systems of power How can we possibly live our best lives How are we supposed to feel confident secure and fabulous AF in our bodies The answer Self esteem Self esteem as we know it has been gatekept by the white and male supremacist delusions for far too long It's time to put power where it actually belongs In Drink Water and Mind Your Business Dr Donna Oriowo helps readers understand the basic foundations of self esteem what it is how society molds it and how it affects us all and offers real meaningful solutions to feel like the most glorious and badass versions of themselves Based on years of research and Dr Donna's career as a licensed sex and relationship therapist this book will help you set boundaries prioritize your needs understand your immense worth and pursue a life that brings you pleasure and joy

Understanding Genocide Leonard S. Newman, Ralph Erber, 2002-09-26 When and why do groups target each other for extermination How do seemingly normal people become participants in genocide Why do some individuals come to the rescue of members of targeted groups while others just passively observe their victimization And how do perpetrators and bystanders later come to terms with the choices that they made These questions have long vexed scholars and laypeople alike and they have not decreased in urgency as we enter the twenty first century In this book the first collection of essays representing social psychological perspectives on genocide and the Holocaust prominent social psychologists use the principles derived from contemporary research in their field to try to shed light on the behavior of the perpetrators of genocide The primary focus of this volume is on the Holocaust but the conclusions reached have relevance for attempts to understand any episode of mass killing Among the topics covered are how crises and difficult life conditions might set the stage for violent intergroup conflict why some groups are more likely than others to be selected as scapegoats how certain cultural values and beliefs could facilitate the initiation of genocide the roles of conformity and obedience to authority in shaping behavior how engaging in violent behavior makes it easier for one to aggress again the evidence for a genocide prone personality and how perpetrators deceive themselves about what they have done The book does not culminate in a grand theory of intergroup violence instead it seeks to provide the reader with new ways of making sense of the horrors of genocide In other words the goal of all of the contributors is to provide us with at least some of the knowledge that we will need to anticipate and prevent future such tragic episodes
