

PSYCHOSOCIOLOGIE ET INTERVENTION

D'usage fréquent dans le langage courant, le vocable intervention – ainsi que des termes voisins : consultation, recherche-action – sert à désigner dans une acception plus technique un type d'activités proche mais distinct de la formation, des études ou d'autres formes encore d'expertise. En fonction des systèmes de références théoriques privilégiés et/ou des démarches préconisées, on distinguera plusieurs types d'intervention : stratégique institutionnelle, socioanalytique, socio-pédagogique, sociopsychanalytique,...

Cet ouvrage, le premier d'une série, rassemble cinq textes qui traitent de l'intervention psychosociologique. Après des « remarques sur l'origine et l'évolution d'une pratique d'intervention psychosociologique » (1980), un second texte (1972) est consacré à des interventions en milieu ouvert. Le troisième (1980) présente un essai de clarification théorique des pratiques qui a d'abord été nourri par le travail en milieu ouvert avant de l'être par le retour à des activités de formation et d'intervention dans les organisations. Le quatrième texte (1987) complète le précédent en réfléchissant aux sources techniques où puisent intervenants et formateurs et aux relations qu'ils entretiennent avec les notions de méthode, de technique, de technologie ou d'ingénierie. Enfin, celui qui clôt ce recueil (1983) réfléchit aux rapports et disjonctions entre la sphère universitaire (recherche et enseignement) et la sphère professionnelle (études, formation, consultation, intervention), sur leurs apports respectifs à la discipline en tant que science sociale spécifique et sur la nécessité pour le praticien de maintenir explicitement une visée de recherche.

Jean DUBOST est professeur émérite de psychologie sociale des Universités (Paris X Nanterre). Il fut membre de la mission psychosociologique fondée par Guy Palmade à EDF-GDF à partir de 1947. Il est cofondateur de l'ARIP (Association pour la recherche et l'intervention psychosociologiques), qui publie la revue Connexions, puis du CIRFIP (Centre international de recherche, formation et intervention psychosociologiques) qui publie La nouvelle revue de psychosociologie.

Buono,Henri Savall,Laurent Cappelletti,2018-02-01 This volume continues to build on the relationship between the Research in Management Consulting series and the intervenor researchers at the Socio Economic Institute for Firms and Organizations ISEOR in Ecully France extending that partnership to our recent work with the French Foundation for Management Education FNEGE a foundation dedicated to closing the gap between the teaching and practice of management in France As part of the Foundation's multifaceted activities which range from seminars and an advanced training initiative for French doctoral students to joint programs with international organizations and associations FNEGE partnered with ISEOR to sponsor a series of workshops on developing high quality intervention research This volume is one of the results from that endeavor Although intervention research helps to uncover valuable insight into organizational dynamics and performance the challenge of capturing and disseminating that insight to both academics and practitioners is entrenched in the rigor relevance debate While we are witnessing increased calls for actionable knowledge this ideal unfortunately remains a rather elusive concept as critics contend either that rigorous academic research falls well short of relevance to the practitioner world or research that proves to be valuable to practitioners falls short of the rigor expected in academic life This volume is intended to help bridge that divide Drawing on the FNEGE ISEOR intervention research workshop the volume contains 18 chapters that explore the intervention research process from initial conceptualization to implementation to publication The volume will be published in French and English
