Perception, Affectivity, and Volition in Husserl's Phenomenology Roberto Walton, Shigeru Taguchi, Roberto Rubio, 2017-05-23 This collection of essays by scholars from Europe Asia North America and Latin America offers new perspectives of the phenomenological investigation of experiential life on the basis of Husserl s phenomenology Not only well known works of Husserl are interpreted from new angles but also the latest volumes of the Husserliana are closely examined In a variety of ways the contributors explore the emergence of reason in experience that is disclosed in the very regions that are traditionally considered to be irrational or pre rational The leading idea of such explorations is Husserl s view that perception affectivity and volition are regarded as the three aspects of reason Without affectivity which is supposedly irrational no rationality can be established in the spheres of representation and volition whereas volitional and representational acts consistently structure the process of affective experience In such a framework it is also shown that theoretical and practical reason are inseparably intertwined Thus the papers collected here can be regarded as a collaborative phenomenological investigation into the entanglement and mutual dependency of the supposedly rational and the irrational as well as that of the practical and the theoretical

Dickerson, 1996 An interesting rereading of familiar texts by Emily and Charlotte Bronte Elizabeth Gaskell and George Eliot recovering the historical and literary roots of the supernatural as it appears in each women s work Dickerson English Rhodes College makes interesting observations about women s changing roles in the 19th century when scientific advancements relegated women to the home as arbiters of the spiritual while men occupied themselves with rational invention Through close readings she demonstrates how the Brontes Gaskell and Eliot resisted this division and simultaneously created a spiritual genre of writing traditionally denigrated by critics Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR
