"Song of the rain" by (Khalil Gibran)

"I am dotted silver thread's dropped from heaven', By the gods, Nature then takes me, to adorn
Her fields and valleys."

Thinking and Learning through Children's Literature Miriam G. Martinez,Junko Yokota,Charles Temple,2017-04-18 Much of teachers attention these days is focused on having students read closely to ferret out the author s intended meaning and the devices used to convey that meaning But we cannot forget to guide students to have moving engagements with literature because they need to make strong personal connections to books of merit if they are to become the next generation of readers literate people with awareness of and concern for the diversity of human beings around them and in different times and places Fortunately guiding both students personal engagement with literature and their close reading to appreciate the author s message and craft are not incompatible goals This book enthusiastically and intelligently addresses both imperatives first surveying what is gained when students are immersed in literature then celebrating and explicating the main features of literature students need to understand to broaden their tastes and deepen their engagement at the same time they meet external standards then presenting a host of active methods for exploring all major genres of children s books and finally presenting suggestions for interdisciplinary teaching units grounded in literature Created by noted leaders in the fields of children s literature and literacy the book is enlivened by recurring features such as suggested reading lists issues for discussion links to technology and annotations of exemplary books

Writing Rumba Miguel Arnedo-Gómez,2006 Arising in the heyday of the music recently made famous by the Buena Vista Social Club afrocubanismo was an artistic and intellectual movement in Cuba in the 1920s and 1930s that tried to convey a national and racial identity Through poetry this movement was the first serious attempt on the part of mostly white Cuban intellectuals to produce a national literature that incorporated elements from the Afro Cuban traditions of lower class urban blacks One of its main objectives was to project an image of Cuban identity as a harmonious process of fusion between black and white people and cultures The notion of a unified nation without racial conflicts and the idea of a mulatto Cuban culture and identity continue to play a prominent role in the Cuban imagination The first book length treatment of the poetry of this movement Writing Rumba The AfroCubanista Movement in Poetry questions the assumption that the poetry did manage to symbolize racial reconciliation and unification At the same time it reveals a process of literary transculturation by which the dominant literature of European origins was radically transformed through the incorporation of formal principles from Afro Cuban dance and music forms To make his case Miguel Arnedo Gomez establishes the nature of the movement's connections to Cuban blacks during this time analyzes the poetry's links with the represented cultures on the basis of anthropological and ethnographic research and explores the thought of leading figures of the movement tying their discourse to specific sociocultural factors in Cuba at the time Relating the poetry to music and dance he further illuminates the interplay of power and culture in a social context Essential for understanding Cuban nationalism and race relations today Writing Rumba will appeal to an interdisciplinary audience not only in regional cultural and anthropological fields but also in the fields of music dance and literature
