Poisonwood Bible Multiple Choice Test Answers:

Barbara Kingsolver's The Poisonwood Bible Linda Wagner-Martin, 2001-09-01 Continuum Contemporaries will be a wonderful source of ideas and inspiration for members of book clubs and readings groups as well as for literature students. The aim of the series is to give readers accessible and informative introductions to 30 of the most popular most acclaimed and most influential novels of recent years. A team of contemporary fiction scholars from both sides of the Atlantic has been assembled to provide a thorough and readable analysis of each of the novels in question. The books in the series will all follow the same structure: a biography of the novelist including other works, influences, and in some cases an interview; a full length study of the novel drawing out the most important themes and ideas; a summary of how the novel was received upon publication; a summary of how the novel has performed since publication including film or TV adaptations, literary prizes, etc.; a wide range of suggestions for further reading including websites and discussion forums; and a list of questions for reading groups to discuss.

The Writer and the Overseas Childhood Antje M. Rauwerda, 2014-01-10 What does Ian McEwan have in common with Barbara Kingsolver's The Shack or William Paul Young's The Way the Crow Flies? Ann Marie MacDonald. All four spent significant portions of their formative years overseas as expatriates; all four are third culture kids. These authors share experiences of cultural and geographical displacement that fracture constructions of home and identity as their fiction attests. This study surveys 17 authors with expat backgrounds to define third culture literature, a burgeoning yet unrecognized branch of international writing characterized by expressions of dislocation, loss, and disenfranchisement. By explicating how the shared cultural details of these writers emerge in literary themes and images, this work introduces third culture literature as a separate field, reinterpreting the work of major writers from across the globe.
