Climate Change in the Mediterranean and Middle Eastern Region Walter Leal Filho, Evangelos Manolas, 2022-01-01 This book serves the purpose of showcasing some of the works in respect of applied research field projects and best practice to foster climate change adaptation across the region Climate change is having a much greater impact in the Mediterranean than the global average In the Paris Climate Agreement the UN member states pledged to stop global warming at well below two degrees if possible at 1.5 degrees This mark which is expected elsewhere only for 2030 to 2050 has already been reached in the region The situation could worsen in the coming years if the global community does not limit its emissions The above state of affairs illustrates the need for a better and more holistic understanding of how climate change affects countries in the Mediterranean region on the one hand but also on the many problems it faces on the other which prevent adaptation efforts There is also a perceived need to showcase successful examples of how to duly address and manage the many social economic and political problems posed by climate change in the region in order to replicate and even upscale the successful approaches used It is against this background that the book Climate Change in the Mediterranean and Middle Eastern Region has been produced It contains papers prepared by scholars practitioners and members of governmental agencies undertaking research and or executing climate change projects and working across the region RFE/RL

Politics In The Third Turkish Republic Metin Heper, Ahmet Evin, 1994-05-19 An examination of the process of democratization in Turkey after 1980 in the light of the shifting balance between the emphasis on prudent political leadership and on political participation that has characterized Turkish politics for decades , Comparative Kurdish Politics in the Middle East Emel Elif Tugdar, Serhun Al, 2017-09-12 This edited volume introduces the political social and economic intra-Kurdish dynamics in the Middle East by comparatively analyzing the main actors their ideas and political interests As an ethnic group and a nation in the making Kurds are not homogeneous and united but rather the Kurdish

Middle East is home to various competing political groups leaderships ideologies and interests Although many existing studies focus on the Kurds and their relations with the nation states that they populate few studies analyze the Kurdish Middle East within its own debates conflicts and interests from a comparative perspective across Iran Iraq Turkey and Syria This book analyzes the intra Kurdish dynamics with historically grounded theoretically informed and conceptually relevant scholarship that prioritizes comparative politics over international relations Hate Crime in Turkey Deniz Ünan Göktan,2017-06-20 This book examines how hate crime as a contemporary legal concept is introduced and represented in Turkish public discourse The study addresses questions of how effective the hate crime debate in Turkey has been in identifying bias motivated violent incidents and how social institutions perceive hate crimes and influence the related debates instigated by social movement actors First of all the study explores the movement against hate crime in Turkey and argues that hate crime has operated as an umbrella term diverting distinct identity movements into dialogue and collaboration but has also created a partial collective identity Thereafter to grasp the repercussions of the emerging anti hate crime movement in the public discourse the book focuses on the media and parliament Accordingly media and the governing bodies in both direct and indirect ways are shown here to constitute an impediment to the recognition of bias and prejudices The Kurdish Nationalist Movement David Romano,2006-03-02 This 2006 book analyses the Kurdish question through the lens of social movement theory International Handbook of Curriculum Research William F.
