summer of 1885 was owned by the veteran drover Don Lovell. Accidents will happen and when about midway between the former point and Ogalalla, Nebraska, a rather serious mishap befell Quince Forrest, one of the men with the herd. He and the horse wrangler who were bunkies were constantly scuffling, reckless to the point of injury, the pulse of healthy manhood beating a constant alarm to rough contest. The afternoon previous to the accident a wayfaring man had overtaken the herd and spent the night with the trail outfit. During the evening a flock of sand hill cranes was sighted when the stranger expressed a wish to secure a specimen of the bird for its splendid plumage. On Forrest's own suggestion his being a long range pistol and the covey wary, the two exchanged belts. The visitor followed the flock, stealing within range a number of times and emptying the six shooter at every chance. On securing a fine specimen near nightfall he returned to the herd, elated over his chance shot and beautiful trophy. However, before returning the belt he had refilled the cylinder with six instead of five cartridges, thus resting the hammer on a loaded shell. In the enthusiasm of the moment and ignorant of its danger, belt and pistol were returned to their owner.
