This concise handbook helps educators write for the rhetorical situations they will face as students of education and as preservice and practicing teachers. It provides clear and helpful advice for responding to the varying contexts audiences and purposes that arise in four written categories in education: classroom research credential and stakeholder writing. The book moves from academic to professional writing and chapters include a discussion of relevant genres mentor texts with salient features identified visual aids and exercises that ask students to apply their understanding of the concepts. Readers learn about the scholarly and qualitative research processes prevalent in the field of education and are encouraged to use writing to facilitate change that improves teaching and learning conditions. In Search of Wonderful Ideas Mary Kay Delaney, Susan Jean Mayer, 2021. Drawing on the work of Eleanor Duckworth, the authors examine critical exploration in the classroom, a student centered learning approach that Duckworth developed herself, drawing on the work of Jean Piaget. For the authors, such teaching and learning relies upon teachers.

developed knowledge skills and wisdom in the practices of intentional listening observing and sensitive question posing and on their ability to conduct open and materials based intellectual explorations with a diverse array of students The complex work that the authors outline has grown less visible within programs of teacher education and in classrooms as other interests prevail challenges like edTP A and standards based instruction The authors make a case for critical exploration within programs of teacher education and demonstrate across chapters the ways in which such an approach may manifest itself within and across disciplinary domains
