Reorienting the East Martin Jacobs, 2014-08-14 The first comprehensive investigation of premodern Jewish travel writing about the Islamic world Reorienting the East explores the Islamic world as it was encountered envisioned and elaborated by Jewish travelers from the Middle Ages to the early modern period The first comprehensive investigation of Jewish travel writing from this era this study engages with questions raised by postcolonial studies and contributes to the debate over the nature and history of Orientalism as defined by Edward Said Examining two dozen Hebrew and Judeo Arabic travel accounts from the mid twelfth to the early sixteenth centuries Martin Jacobs asks whether Jewish travelers shared Western perceptions of the Islamic world with their Christian counterparts Most Jews who detailed their journeys during this period hailed from Christian lands and many sailed to the Eastern Mediterranean aboard Christian owned vessels Yet Jacobs finds that their descriptions of the Near East subvert or reorient a decidedly Christian vision of the region The accounts from the crusader era in particular are often critical of the Christian church and present glowing portraits of Muslim Jewish relations By contrast some of the later travelers discussed in the book express condescending attitudes toward Islam Muslims and Near Eastern Jews Placing shifting perspectives on the Muslim world in their historical social and literary contexts Jacobs interprets these texts as mirrors of changing Jewish self perceptions As he argues the travel accounts echo the various ways in which premodern Jews negotiated their mingled identities which were neither exclusively Western nor entirely Eastern

Sufism in Ottoman Egypt Rachida Chih,2019-04-17 This book analyses the development of Sufism in Ottoman Egypt during the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries Examining the cultural socio economic and political backdrop against which

Sufism gained prominence it looks at its influence in both the institutions for religious learning and popular piety The study seeks to broaden the observed space of Sufism in Ottoman Egypt by placing it within its imperial and international context highlighting on one hand the specificities of Egyptian Sufism and on the other the links that it maintained with other spiritual traditions that influenced it Studying Sufism as a global phenomenon taking into account its religious cultural social and political dimensions this book also focuses on the education of the increasing number of aspirants on the Sufi path as well as on the social and political role of the Sufi masters in a period of constant and often violent political upheaval It ultimately argues that starting in medieval times Egypt was simultaneously attracting foreign scholars inward and transmitting ideas outward but these exchanges intensified during the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries as a result of the new imperial context in which the country and its people found themselves Hence this book demonstrates that the concept of neosufism should be dispensed with and that the Ottoman period in no way constituted a time of decline for religious culture or the beginning of a normative and fundamentalist Islam Sufism in Ottoman Egypt provides a valuable contribution to the new historiographical approach to the period challenging the prevailing teleology As such it will prove useful to students and scholars of Islam Sufism and religious history as well as Middle Eastern history more generally
