Sol Plaatje Campus Registration 2016:

Sol Plaatje's Mhudi Sabata-mpho Mokae, Brian Willan, 2021 Sol Plaatje's Mhudi is the first full length novel in English to have been written by a black South African and is widely regarded as one of South Africa's most important literary works. Set in the 1830s it tells the tale of Mhudi and Ra Thaga a romantic story set against a violent backdrop of war between Barolong and Matebele complicated by the intrusions of Boer trekkers with whom the Barolong form an alliance. It is notable among other things for the way Plaatje uses the past to explore the roots of the oppression and injustice suffered by his people a century later when the book was written. New Trends in Psychobiography Claude-Hélène Mayer, Zoltan Kovary, 2019-08-06 This volume offers insights into contemporary trends and perspectives in psychobiographical research. It applies new theoretical and methodological frameworks and presents discourses on psychobiography from transdisciplinary backgrounds and various socio-cultural contexts displaying the new state of the art, new trends and themes in psychobiography. The book outlines psychobiography's outstanding contribution to psychology from 36 internationally reputable authors. It also presents the ideas of five outstanding psychobiographers through interview excerpts. This book is a must for researchers, lecturers and practitioners in the field of psychology and social sciences interested in the use of new psychological theories and methodologies in life span research.

Fees Must Fall Susan Booysen, 2016-10-01 This book explores the student discontent a year after the start of the 2015 South African FeesMustFall revolt. FeesMustFall the student revolt that began in October 2015 was an uprising against lack of access to and financial exclusion from higher education in South Africa. More broadly it radically questioned the socio-political dispensation resulting from the 1994 social pact between big business, the ruling elite and the liberation movement. The 2015 revolt links to national and international youth struggles of the recent past and is informed by black consciousness politics and social movements of the international left. Yet its objectives are more complex than those of earlier struggles. The student movement has challenged the hierarchical top-down leadership system of university management and its double speak of professing to act in workers and students' interests yet entrenching a regressive system for control and governance. University managements while on one level amenable to change have also co-opted students into their ranks to create co-responsibility for the highly bureaucratised university financial aid that stands in the way of their social revolution. This book maps the contours of student discontent a year after the start of the FeesMustFall revolt. Student voices dissect colonialism, improper compromises by the founders of democratic South Africa, feminism, worker rights and meaningful education. In-depth assessments by prominent scholars reflect on the complexities of student activism, its impact on national and university governance and offer provocative analyses of the power of the revolt.

Home Is Where Your Politics Are Jessica A. Scott, 2024-06-14 Home Is Where Your Politics Are is a transnational consideration of queer and trans activism in the US South and South Africa. Through ethnographic exploration of queer and trans activist work in both places, Jessica Scott paints a vibrant picture of what life is like in relation to a narrative that says that queer life is harder if not impossible in rural areas and on the African continent The book asks questions like what do activists in these places care about and how do stories about where they live get in the way of the life they envision for the queer and trans people for whom they advocate Answers to these questions provide insight that only these activists have into the complexity of locally based advocacy strategies in a globalized world Rural Cinema Exhibition and Audiences in a Global Context Daniela Treveri Gennari, Danielle Hipkins, Catherine O'Rawe, 2018-10-19 Although it has only been in the last decade that the planet's population balance tipped from a predominantly rural makeup towards an urban one the field of cinema history has demonstrated a disproportionate skew toward the urban Within audience studies however an increasing number of scholars are turning their attention away from the bright lights of the urban and towards the less well lit and infinitely more variegated history of rural cinema going Rural Cinema Exhibition and Audiences in A Global Context is the first volume to consider rural cinema going from a global perspective It aims to provide a rich and wide ranging introduction to this growing field and to further develop some of its key questions It brings together eighteen international scholars or teams all representatives of a dynamic new field Moving beyond a Western focus is essential for thinking through questions of rural exhibition distribution and cinema experience since over the relatively short history of cinema it is the rural that has dominated cinema goers lives in much of the developing world To this end the volume also innovates by bringing discussions of North American and European ruralities into dialogue with contributions on Kenya Brazil China Thailand South Africa and Australia The Statesman's Yearbook 2024 Palgrave Macmillan, 2024-01-03 Now in its 160th edition The Statesman's Yearbook continues to be the reference work of choice for accurate and reliable information on every country in the world Covering political economic social and cultural aspects the Yearbook is also available online for subscribing institutions

Identification and Citizenship in Africa Séverine Awenengo Dalberto, Richard Banégas, 2021-05-10 In the context of a global biometric turn this book investigates processes of legal identification in Africa from below asking what this means for the relationship between citizens and the state Almost half of the population of the African continent is thought to lack a legal identity and many states see biometric technology as a reliable and efficient solution to the problem However this book shows that biometrics far from securing identities and avoiding fraud or political distrust can even participate in reinforcing exclusion and polarizing debates on citizenship and national belonging It highlights the social and political embedding of legal identities and the resilience of the documentary state Drawing on empirical research conducted across 14 countries the book documents the processes practices and meanings of legal identification in Africa from the 1950s right up to the biometric boom Beyond the classic opposition between surveillance and recognition it demonstrates how analysing the social uses of IDs and tools of identification can give a fresh account of the state at work the practices of citizenship and the role of bureaucracy in the writing of the self in African societies This book will be of an important reference for students and scholars of African studies politics human security and anthropology and the sociology of the state
