Nurturing Your Child's Math and Literacy in Pre-K-Fifth Grade Mary Mueller, Alisa Hindin, 2016-11-23 With recent changes in the curriculum and standards in language arts and mathematics parents often are challenged to find ways to help their children be successful in their learning endeavors While parents want to be involved in their children s education they are often unsure of their role in their children s learning and the best ways to help their children to succeed academically Moreover with the changes in how math and literacy are being taught parents often struggle with helping even first grade children with their homework In this book we set out to alleviate this struggle by offering parents a resource they can use to navigate their child s education communicate with teachers and support their children in learning mathematics and literacy After providing an overview of the current educational climate and tips for communication with teachers we share strategies and suggestions parents can use to assist their children in language arts and mathematics We provide detailed descriptions of activities games books and conversations that connect with what children will be learning at each grade level

Designing Effective Distance and Blended Learning Environments in K-12 Driscoll III, Thomas F., 2021-11-12 It has quickly become apparent in the past year that online learning is not only an asset but it is critical to the continued education of youth during times of crisis However districts and schools across the nation are in need of guidance and practical research backed approaches to distance and hybrid learning The current COVID 19 crisis has demonstrated that effective learning in K 12 is possible but many districts struggled and continue to struggle in achieving that reality There is also the growing consensus that even if things return to normal distance and blended learning strategies should continue to be employed in many ways across the K 12 environment Designing Effective Distance and Blended Learning Environments in K 12 provides key insights into the ways that school districts and educators from across the world have effectively designed and implemented distance and blended learning approaches to enable and enhance student learning The diverse collection of authors from various demographics and roles in school systems will benefit readers across a wide spectrum of school community stakeholders There will also be an emphasis on how research and theory is put into practice along with an honest discussion of what strategies and actions were successful as well as those that were less so This book is essential for professionals and researchers working in the field of K 12 education particularly superintendents curriculum developers professional learning designers school principals instructional technology specialists and teachers as well as administrators researchers academicians and students interested in the effective practices being used in blended learning approaches Families, COVID, and Unequal Schooling in the US Shelley Goldman, Brigid Barron, Elizabeth B. Kozleski, Antero Garcia, 2025-07-18 This book explores how parents became education partners in new and unexpected ways during the COVID pandemic Emerging from a range of research studies it reframes how researchers educators school leaders and policymakers can establish and foster more equitable partnerships with families The authors ultimately argue that COVID schooling erased boundaries between schools and families as families translated decoded and reshaped learning in their living rooms alongside their children Chapters use firsthand accounts by parents and caretakers to contextualize and report on how families managed their lives and the education of their children during the pandemic before exploring the tensions and issues that arose for families which were pandemic caused or the results of educational disparities and inequalities being intensified by the COVID crisis It thus reveals how caregivers struggled with employment and food insecurities as well as issues such as technology access and their children s learning needs Building connections between research and practice it re imagines how families can be education partners discussing how schools can carry families assets into their work on improving schools during the pandemic times of crisis and into the post pandemic future It will appeal to researchers and graduates with interests in educational leadership teacher education sociology of education and the sociology of family and parenting with additional relevance for teachers and school administrators with interests in education in crises school reform and educational leadership His Name Was Amy Mable Frank C Newby, 2007-07 Take a trip down memory lane and revel in the adventures of little Raz a child of the depression For the young reader it is a chance to live history through the eyes of a child struggling with little Raz as he gets into and out of situations For the young reader it imparts knowledge of living in a world without electricity The teen ager will react to the frustrations and emotions of a young boy living poor working hard and forced to accept the responsibilities of adulthood at an early age The older reader will recall with nostalgia a gentler world of yesteryear Do you recall memories of walking down a country road with the smell of new mown hay and honeysuckle wafting on the breezes It recalls the privations and hardships of a great depression and a world at war It recalls the window flags with their white stars representing young Americans away from home on foreign battlefields while their country was reeling under the burden of wartime rationing Every incident in Amy Mable is true It was experienced by the author in a long and exciting life Treat yourself to a cup of nostalgia      Towards Critical Environmental Education Aristotelis S.

Gkiolmas, Constantine D. Skordoulis, 2020-11-03 This volume discusses theory philosophy praxis and methods in Environmental and Ecological education and considers the junction with the main visions and issues of Critical Pedagogy The volume and its separate chapters address four axes which can also be seen as the guidelines of the content as well as the central objectives of the book The first axis concerns the missing theoretical and practical pieces at this point in time The volume considers the issues that are not included in contemporary Environmental Education and thus deprive it from critical orientations This implies that in Environmental Education very little discussion exists about the political economic racial gender and class issues that in most cases govern the actions of leaders and stake holders The second axis concerns what has been done so far and in what directions This involves descriptions of theoretical approaches or actual applied methodologies in the classroom such as curricula or syllabus used or the kind of actions certain educators have taken to infuse the issues of justice and critical reflection within the Environmental Education teaching agenda The third axis examines proposals It looks at ways to enrich domains of Environmental Education with the argumentations of Critical Pedagogy The fourth axis concerns the way in which proposals can be effectuated This part contains specific methodologies and teaching sequences depicting ways of including major aspects of Critical Pedagogy and Critical Education in Environmental Education Examples are Non anthropocentric ecological approaches in the classroom political activism in the Curricula mixture of field activities and political activities      Learning and Leading with Technology, 2006      The Routledge International Handbook of

Learning with Technology in Early Childhood Natalia Kucirkova, Jennifer Rowsell, Garry Falloon, 2019-03-04 The Routledge International Handbook of Learning with Technology in Early Childhood focuses specifically on the most cutting edge innovative and international approaches in the study of children s use of and learning with digital technologies This edited volume is a comprehensive survey of methods in children s technologies and contains a rich repertoire of studies from diverse fields and research including both educational and developmental psychology post humanist literacy applied linguistics language and phenomenology and narrative approaches For ease of reference the Handbook s 28 chapters are divided into four thematic sections introduction and opening reflections studies answering ontological questions which theorize how children take on original identities in becoming literate with technologies studies answering epistemological questions which focus on how children s knowledge and learning are co constructed with a diverse range of technologies

The Eighteen-year-old Replacement Roscoe Richard Kingsbury,2008 When the United States entered the Second World War eighteen year old enlistees were routinely assigned temporary duties and not sent into battle until they turned nineteen But as the fighting dragged on America was eventually forced to draft younger men into combat to replace wounded troops and following the Battle of the Bulge more than 300 000 eighteen year olds were sent as replacements to the army s decimated divisions In The Eighteen Year Old Replacement Richard Kingsbury brings an often overlooked perspective to the annals of World War II Torn from an ordinary teenager s life in the Midwest young Dick was drafted six weeks after D Day and rushed with other eighteen year olds to the Siegfried Line to bolster Patton s 94th Infantry Division His reminiscence provides a moving diarylike account of what he endured both physically and emotionally and tells how he went from boyhood to manhood almost overnight In prose that is both succinct and evocative Kingsbury recounts his experiences as a rifleman during the final bloody battles in Germany giving readers a real feel for what combat was like for a raw recruit He recalls his first night in a foxhole on the front line and the unbelievable luxury of sleeping in a barn s hayloft He relives freezing cold at the Bulge which permanently damaged his legs and the pounding of enemy artillery during Patton s breakthrough of the German West Wall which affected his hearing for life More poignantly Kingsbury shares his anxieties over killing as well as the distinct possibility of being killed as Wehrmacht tanks mercilessly blasted individual foxholes at Bannholz Woods He vividly recalls Patton s attack on Ludwigshafen on the west bank of the Rhine where he took a German bullet in his chest and where three of the six newly arrived eighteen year olds were killed Interspersed with the accounts of battle are letters between Dick and Mary Jo his sweetheart back home capturing the blossoming of romance that transcended both distance and bloodshed His book casts a new light on war and courtship in an era when boys were rushed from the home front to the front lines By showing how crucial the contribution of these young men was to the war effort this book gives the eighteen year old replacements the recognition they have long deserved
