Query Processing in Parallel Relational Database Systems Hongjun Lu, Beng Chin Ooi, Kian-Lee Tan, 1994 Provides readers with a background knowledge of parallel database query processing and optimization and covers recent developments in the field Subjects include design approaches architecture of parallel database systems parallel sorting parallel processing of join data skew and load balancing

Computational Methods in Genome Research Sándor Suhai, 2012-12-06 The application of computational methods to solve scientific and practical problems in genome research created a new interdisciplinary area that transcends boundaries traditionally separating genetics biology mathematics physics and computer science Computers have been of course intensively used for many years in the field of life sciences even before genome research started to store and analyze DNA or proteins sequences to explore and model the three dimensional structure the dynamics and the function of biopolymers to compute genetic linkage or evolutionary processes etc The rapid development of new molecular and genetic technologies combined with ambitious goals to explore the structure and function of genomes of higher organisms has generated however not only a huge and burgeoning body of data but also a new class of scientific questions The nature and complexity of these questions will require beyond establishing a new kind of alliance between experimental and theoretical disciplines also the development of new generations both in computer software and hardware technologies respectively New theoretical procedures combined with powerful computational facilities will substantially extend the horizon of problems that genome research can attack with success Many of us still feel that computational models rationalizing experimental findings in genome research fulfil their promises more slowly than desired There also is an uncertainty concerning the real position of a theoretical genome research in the network of established disciplines integrating their efforts in this field
