Henry, Gust H. Bardy, Martin Borggrefe, Francis E. Marchlinski, Andrea Natale, Bruce L. Wilkoff, 2012-12-06 Implantable defibrillators as originally conceived by Michel Mirowski were limited to the detection and automatic termination of ventricular fibrillation In the original AID device the detection algorithm sought to distinguish sinus rhythm from ventricular fibrillation by identifying the more sinusoidal waveform of ventricular fibrillation The therapeutic intervention was elicited only once deadly polymorphic rhythms had developed It was rapidly learned however that ventricular fibrillation is usually preceded by ventricular tachycardia Mirowski recognized the pivotal importance of developing algorithms based on heart rate Ventricular tachycardia detection allowed the successful development of interventions for the termination of ventricular tachyarrhythmias before they degenerated into ventricular fibrillation Current device therapy no longer confines itself to the termination of chaotic rhythms but seeks to prevent them Diagnostic algorithms moved upward along the chain of events leading to catastrophic rhythm disturbances Rate smoothing algorithms were developed to prevent postextrasystolic pauses from triggering ventricular and atrial tachyarrhythmias Beyond the renaissance of ectopy centered strategies long term prevention received increasing attention Multisite pacing therapies provided by Arrhythmia Management Devices were designed to reduce the arrhythmia burden and optimize the synergy of cardiac contraction and relaxation Clinical evidence now suggests that atrial fibrillation prevention by pacing is feasible and that biventricular pacing may be of benefit in selected patients with heart failure However these applications of device therapy that generally require ventricular defibrillation backup remain investigational and were not considered in this book

An Executive Guide for Deploying Innovation Praveen Gupta, 2014-01-10 An Executive Guide for Deploying Innovation In the past innovation has been considered an art dependent upon the people who make it happen and a relatively rare unpredictable occurrence As a result too much time is taken in the development of new products and services In the 21st century we must change this process so that we become continual thinkers capable of innovating on demand for mass customization This requires that we understand innovation better and standardize the process for predictable results History shows that innovation is evolutionary and is a response to an unsolved problem or unexploited opportunity which makes Praveen Gupta's Business Innovation in the 21st Century a valuable addition to the literature His 25 years of business problem solving have given him the tools to develop a plausible framework that directs us to look at innovation in a different context Several books have been written addressing various aspects of innovation but common understanding has been limited to the level of brainstorming and creative tools This book presents a comprehensive approach to the innovation process This is one of the first books for executives that address various aspects of innovation from concepts to commercialization The purpose of this book is to provide comprehensive coverage of innovation related processes and a new framework that are suitable for the Internet generation and the knowledge age The goal of developing such a framework is to facilitate standardization of the innovation process so that results can be more predictable and so that innovation can be produced on demand The book is specifically designed for executive to learn concepts of innovation in order to lead the innovation deployment successfully In Praise of Praveen's Work in Our intellectual processes have to have fuel through network Employees can participate in networks where they get a chance to renew their thinking get new exposures and continue to be engaged intellectually in developing new ideas That is the idea of ideas the innovation Robert W Galvin Former Chairman and CEO Motorola Inc from inside As a believer in the importance of process excellence in all aspects of management and leadership I have been searching for an approach that unleashes excellence in generating the innovation which is vital to corporate survival Praveen Gupta has documented understanding of that process and provided the framework for its substantial enhancement Bob Anderson Director Illinois Institute of Technology Chicago Great way to bring new thinking on the innovation process to an organization Richard Gendon Managing Director Center for
