

Same-Sex Marriage and Legalized Relationships: I Do, or Do I?

Esther D. Rothblum

ABSTRACT. At a time when heterosexual marriage rates are declining, many countries and localities are advocating for the rights of lesbians and gay men to enter legalized relationships, including marriage. This article reviews the legal status of same-sex relationships in the U.S. and other countries. Not only does the general public have mixed opinions about same-sex marriage, but so do lesbian and gay male communities. Some of the theories about pros and cons of same-sex marriage will be presented. The article reviews the very scant literature on same-sex legalized relationships and presents some ideas for future research. *[Article copies available for a fee from The Haworth Document Delivery Service: 1-800-HAWORTH. Same-Sex Partners Amanda K. Baumle, D'Lane Compton, Dudley L. Poston Jr., 2009-03-09 Addressing the lack of understanding regarding the lives of same sex couples this book examines the sociodemographic characteristics of partnered gay men and lesbians The authors draw on U S census data to present quantitative analyses of topics pertaining to gay men and lesbians that have previously been relatively unexamined or assessed mainly through qualitative studies They explore where gay men and lesbians live why they choose those residences income inequality occupations dimensions of family attachments relationship commitments and family structures The census data allows the authors to provide a more detailed representation of many of the essential features in the lives of gay men and lesbians compared to those of married and cohabiting heterosexuals In certain cases the data and analyses reinforce current stereotypes while in other cases they challenge preexisting beliefs Ultimately this book provides a foundation for future research policy law and understanding regarding gay men and lesbians

William N. Eskridge, Darren R. W. Chan, 2014-02-04 In 1948 the United Nations General Assembly proclaimed the Universal Declaration of Human Rights stating every human being's right of equality in dignity and right. However, notwithstanding recognition by the international community of its importance and codification in numerous national and sub-national constitutions and legislation reinforced by various multilateral and regional human rights treaties, the right of equality continues to be unable to take complete firm hold in all regions and countries. Evidence as presented by the insightful papers in this collection published initially as a Special Double Issue of The International Journal of Human Rights dedicated to exploring the place of equality in Asia Pacific societies suggests that although progress is being made, the right of equality has not yet fully materialized both in law and in reality in the world's most populous region. Many factors, particularly entrenched cultural heritage and practices, the lingering effects of colonialism and newly found independence, and above all pervasive ignorance and prejudices continue to impede the recognition, development and protection of equality in this region. Of course, equality, a normative right and entitlement by virtue of our humanity, has neither been fully achieved in societies outside the region. Such neo-colonial thinking, in fact, perpetuates and assists in the subjugation of the right of equality in the Asia Pacific Region as a matter of relevance and concern only to Western countries. Accordingly, we hope that our discussions will also be able to shed light and generate reflections on realities outside the region as interlinked with our aim.
