Wishbone Wann Smith, 2012-09-14 The Oklahoma Sooners dominated the world of college football during the 1950s Under the leadership of Coach Bud Wilkinson the team won three national titles and established an astounding record of forty seven straight victories that still stands today Yet by 1959 Wilkinson s Sooners were showing signs of vulnerability marking the start of a new and challenging era in Oklahoma football Then along came a new offensive strategy and OU began to dominate college football once again In Wishbone veteran journalist Wann Smith provides an in depth account of Sooner football from the team's final years under Wilkinson through its remarkable turnaround under Coach Barry Switzer. At the heart of this story is the phenomenal success of the Wishbone offense, a hybrid offshoot of the Split T formation that Wilkinson employed so successfully in the 1950s. Though not without its risks, the Wishbone offense changed the face of college football and was a key factor in Oklahoma's resurgence in the 1970s with Switzer at the helm. Drawing on firsthand accounts from coaches, players, and university administrators many never before published, Smith takes us behind the scenes during this exciting comeback period to reveal not just what happened but why and how it happened. And he brings to life the personalities who played pivotal roles in the team's renewed success, including Jack Mildren, Greg Pruitt, Joe Washington, Billy Sims, and any many others. Sooner fans, indeed all fans of college football, will relish this account of the remaking of a football powerhouse and its return to glory.

Atmospheric Flight in the Twentieth Century P. Galison, A. Roland, 2013-03-07 All technologies differ from one another. They are as varied as humanity's interaction with the physical world. Even people attempting to do the same thing produce multiple technologies. For example, John H. White discovered more than 1,000 patents in the 19th century for locomotive smokestacks. Yet all technologies are processes by which humans seek to control their physical environment and bend nature to their purposes. All technologies are alike. The tension between likeness and difference runs through this collection of papers. All focus on atmospheric flight, a twentieth-century phenomenon. But they approach the topic from different disciplinary perspectives. They ask disparate questions. And they work from distinct agendas. Collectively, they help to explain what is different about aviation, how it differs from other technologies, and how flight itself has varied from one time and place to another. The importance of this topic is manifest. Flight is one of the defining technologies of the twentieth century. Jay David Bolter argues in Turing's Man that certain technologies in certain ages have had the power not only to transform society but also to shape the way in which people understand their relationship with the physical world. A defining technology, says Bolter, resembles a magnifying glass which collects and focuses seemingly disparate ideas in a culture into one bright, sometimes piercing ray. Flight has done that for the twentieth century.
