Assessment in South Africa Sumaya Laher, Kate Cockcroft, 2013-01-01 This book provides an overview of the research related to psychological assessment across South Africa The thirty six chapters provide a combination of psychometric theory and practical assessment applications in order to combine the currently disparate research that has been conducted locally in this field Existing South African texts on psychological assessment are predominantly academic textbooks that explain psychometric theory and provide brief descriptions of a few testing instruments Psychological Assessment in South Africa provides in depth coverage of a range of areas within the broad field of psychological assessment including research conducted with various psychological instruments The chapters critically interrogate the current Eurocentric and Western cultural hegemonic practices that dominate the field of psychological assessment The book therefore has the potential to function both as an academic text for graduate students as well as a specialist resource for professionals including psychologists psychometrists remedial teachers and human resource practitioners Archaeology and Economic Development Paul Burtenshaw, 2017-12-02 Nowhere in archaeology is the gap between theory and practice more evident than in its ambivalent engagement with economic development This groundbreaking volume assembles practicing archaeologists economists and NGO officials in an extensive exploration of the theoretical practical and ethical issues raised by archaeologists use of cultural heritage to support economic development The first chapters consider the problem of articulating the value of tangible and intangible heritage when economic measures alone are inadequate Subsequent chapters present regional perspectives on archaeology and development and present a host of case studies from around the globe that describe archaeologists development projects including some that are successful and others that are less so These studies both suggest best practices in the implementation of development projects and illuminate the obstacles to success created by political conflict and competing human needs Ethical issues and practical considerations converge in chapters that explore the role that members of local communities should play in the design management and governance of archaeological and heritage resources In this volume archaeologists and heritage professionals will encounter a thought provoking international discourse concerning the path forward for archaeology as the field engages with economic development Biographical Questionnaire Bohdan Zawadzki, 1948 Printed Biographical Questionnaire for
