The Oxford Handbook of Higher Education in the Asia-Pacific Region Devesh Kapur,Lily Kong,Florence Lo,David M. Malone,2023-01-11 Since the turn of the millennium it has become clear that the Asia Pacific Region is economically the fastest growing continent in the world and is likely to remain so for some time despite the setbacks of the COVID 19 pandemic Asia Pacific s share of the world s Gross Domestic Product GDP doubled from 15 per cent to 30 per cent between 1970 and 2017 and is projected to account for half of global GDP by 2050 With South East and South Asia also growing rapidly with over half the world s population and three of the world s five largest economies Asia is soon poised to home half of the world s middle class a class that is both the driver and the product of higher education The quality of a country s system of higher education may be seen both as a gauge of its current level of national development as well as of its future economic prospects It is therefore natural that the putative Asian Century should generate interest in the region s higher education systems which on the one hand share common characteristics a fixation with credentials and engineering high technology especially among male students and business degrees while at the same time are also highly differentiated not only across countries but also within As such a better understanding of higher education achievements failings potential and structural limitations in the Asia Pacific Region is imperative This handbook presents a number of significant country case studies and documents cross cutting trends relating to among other things the trilemma faced by governments juggling competing claims of access accessible cost and quality the balance between teaching and research the links between labour markets demand and higher education supply preferred fields of study and their consequences the rise of the research university in Asia the lure of institutions of international reputation within the region new education technologies and their effects and trends in government policy within the wider region and sub regions completed with little or no residency Mobile Learning in Higher Education in the Asia-Pacific Region Angela Murphy, Helen Farley, Laurel Evelyn Dyson, Hazel Jones, 2017-07-06 If mobile technologies are to be effectively used in education how do we best implement sustainable mobile solutions for teaching and learning The aim of this handbook is to support educators and policy makers who are investing in innovations in digital education to develop effective and sustainable mobile learning solutions for higher education environments Authors from sixteen countries across the Asia Pacific region have collaborated to share their experiences with developing and implementing mobile learning initiatives These projects focus on a variety of aspects of mobile learning innovation from the trial adoption of existing social media platforms on mobile devices and the development of specialised applications or mobile learning systems to the large scale interuniversity implementation of technologies and pedagogies to support mobile learning Each chapter addresses challenges and solutions at one or more levels of mobile learning innovation within the education system encompassing the student perspective the educator perspective technical processes policies and organisational strategy and leadership The book also offers a unique perspective on the integration of mobile learning innovations within the educational political and cultural environments of Asia Pacific countries The Dynamics of Changing Higher Education in the Global South Busani Mpofu, Sabelo Ndlovu-Gatsheni, 2020-06-29 Today there are generally universities in Africa rather than African universities The legitimacy of the university in Africa is under serious questions now because of its complicity in racism patriarchy sexism colonialism capitalism genocide epistemicide linguicide culturecide and alienation In other words the university in Africa as we know it today is elitist and exclusionary Therefore rethinking the idea of the university is fundamental to overcoming its current deficiencies in the Global South This volume bringing together a number of national case studies and macro analyses on the dynamics of changing higher education in the Global South gestures towards the desired imagined decolonial African university which should be a site of multilingualism where African indigenous languages cosmologies and ontologies become a central part of its identity and soul intolerant of epistemicides linguicides and cultural imperialism but a site of cognitive and social justice that fully embraces the idea that all human beings are born into valid useful relevant and legitimate knowledge systems Sustainable Development in Africa Walter Leal Filho, Rudi Pretorius, Luiza Olim de Sousa, 2021-07-09 This book serves the purpose of documenting and promoting African experiences on sustainable development which encompasses both formal and non formal education Sustainable development is very important to Africa but there is a paucity of publication which documents and promotes experiences from African countries Due to their complexity the interrelations between social economic and political factors related to sustainable development especially at universities need to be better understood There is also a real need to showcase successful examples of how African institutions are handling their sustainability challenges It is against this background that this book has been produced It is a truly interdisciplinary publication useful to scholars social movements practitioners and members of governmental agencies and private companies undertaking research and or executing projects focusing on sustainability from across Africa As African nations strive to pursue the UN Sustainable Development Goals it is imperative to cater for the information needs seen across the continent and foster the dissemination of experiences and case studies which may support both on going and future efforts The scope of the book is deliberately kept wide and we are looking for contributions across the spectrum of sustainable development from business and economics to arts and fashion administration environment languages and media studies
