Understanding the World Through Narrative Steve Bowkett,Tony

Hitchman,2023-10-02 While many educational books focus on creative and critical thinking skills this ground breaking work is the first to deal specifically with the ability to understand question and evaluate information presented broadly speaking in story form Story or narrative is central to our understanding of and interaction with the world around us We only have to think of the mini stories encapsulated in many advertisements the way that topics in science the story of human evolution for example in history and other subjects present themselves the power of myths and legends to act as guides to moral behaviour and the pervasive way that gossip rumour and superstition can spread to recognise the benefits of heightening such awareness in young learners Understanding the World Through Narrative explores the narrative structure of fiction but uses this as a template to show how the story form appears in mythology and modern urban folklore science history the media including advertising in our internal dialogues stories we tell ourselves about ourselves and others and how narrative structure can be used in curriculum planning to enhance children's learning The book contains over 160 thinking discussing researching activities for use in the classroom and as project work Chapters can be used independently although they are arranged with increasing degrees of sophistication and challenge This fascinating work is an essential resource for any teacher of upper primary and lower secondary students covering not only children's evolving intellectual ability and promoting curiosity and critical engagement but also enhancing their mental and emotional wellbeing

Design for the Changing Educational Landscape

Andrew Harrison, Les Hutton, 2013-10-15 The whole landscape of space use is undergoing a radical transformation In the workplace a period of unprecedented change has created a mix of responses with one overriding outcome observable worldwide the rise of distributed space In the learning environment the social political economic and technological changes responsible for this shift have been further compounded by constantly developing theories of learning and teaching and a wide acceptance of the importance of learning as the core of the community resulting in the blending of all aspects of learning into one seamless experience This book attempts to look at all the forces driving the provision and pedagogic performance of the many spaces real and virtual that now accommodate the experience of learning and provide pointers towards the creation and design of learning centred communities Part 1 looks at the entire learning universe as it now stands tracks the way in which its constituent parts came to occupy their role assesses how they have responded to a complex of drivers and gauges their success in dealing with renewed pressures to perform It shows that what is required is innovation within the spaces and integration between them Part 2 finds many examples of innovation in evidence across the world in schools the higher and further education campus and in business and cultural spaces but an almost total absence of integration Part 3 offers a model that redefines the learning landscape in terms of learning outcomes mapping spatial requirements and activities into a detailed mechanism that will achieve the best outcome at the most appropriate scale By encouraging stakeholders to creating an events based rather than space based identity the book hopes to point the way to a fully integrated learning landscape a learning community Teaching and Learning History Jere E.
