DiGiulio, 2024 Aulus Gellius and his sole surviving work the Noctes Atticae NA have long stood on the periphery of Classical scholarship This second century CE compilation conventionally termed a miscellany collects vast amounts of otherwise lost ancient literature and the depictions of scholarly activity throughout the work have led some to see in Gellius a kindred spirit a Classicist avant la lettre Yet the NA is a fascinating work of literature in its own right depicting the intellectual and literary culture at the height of the Roman Empire and offering invaluable evidence for the evolution of Latin prose as a literary form in the Antonine period In contrast to previous scholarship that looks past the randomness of the NA this book argues that the conceit of disorder enabled Gellius to probe the nature of reading in the second century CE Gellius central preoccupation is articulating a distinct set of ways of reading that may be employed to navigate the web of literature in the Roman Empire In turn each of these ways of reading through material framing devices focal characters recurrent citations in dialogue with one another and allusive references to other near contemporary works can be used to examine Gellius collection and appreciate its literary qualities Incorporating inter and intratextual analysis alongside narratology informed approaches this book investigates the strategies used by Gellius to innovate within the Latin literary tradition and provides a framework for interpreting his varietas on its own terms      Philosophers, Jews, and Christians in the Roman Empire Leslie Kelly, 2025-02-28 This book explores how philosophical and religious communities in the Roman Empire of the first and second centuries CE engaged with and were shaped by their relationship to texts and tradition in their quest for true religious knowledge or ultimate truth This era was a dynamic transition period for philosophers Jews and Christians in the Roman Empire it was the stage between Hellenistic philosophy and the Neoplatonism of Late Antiquity the end of Second Temple Judaism and the start of the rabbinic period Christianity's rapid growth and transformation into an institutional and uniform church Philosophers Jews and Christians utilized similar strategies for communal identity and boundary marking and reinterpreted ancient traditions in creative ways to create new centers of authority An intellectual literary culture fostered a focus on texts as a locus of contention conversion and exchange within and between groups The book surveys and compares these groups as three distinct textual or reading communities analyzing their practices of textual engagement and parallel attitudes towards textual authority in this period This book is suitable for students and scholars working on ancient philosophy in the Roman Empire classicists and scholars of early Christianity and Judaism in this period
