Roman Architecture Janet DeLaine,2024-05-09 Roman Architecture casts new light not only on many familiar monuments of the city of Rome but also on less well known examples from across the Roman empire Rome and its empire were fundamental to the development of western architecture and its forms and motifs remain significant elements of our own built environments Roman Architecture places the varied architecture of ancient Rome from its humble apartment blocks to its grand public structures within the broader context of Roman society It takes as its starting point the writings of the Roman architect Vitruvius as one voice in a broader contemporary debate about the nature and value of architecture What did the Romans themselves think architecture was for What was built by whom and why How was architecture represented in text and image The interplay of type and variation that are the hallmark Roman architecture are here traced back to the human actions and choices from which they originated Janet DeLaine explores how the desires of patrons for novelty and individuality were met by architects and builders working within the practical constraints of available materials and the moral prescriptions of religious and social norms to create new forms Ranging from early Rome to the late empire this volume casts new light on many familiar monuments of the city of Rome but also on less well known examples from across the empire Through an examination of the key types of buildings at the heart of Roman society and their decoration it reveals the symbolic meaning of architecture in terms of competitive power displays and commemoration and it explores how architecture helped to define being Roman at different times and in different places of the empire Library of Congress Catalog: Motion Pictures and Filmstrips Library of Congress,1968 An architectural dictionary... a complete guide to the science of architecture and the art of building Peter Nicholson,1819 The Genesis of Roman Architecture John North Hopkins,2016-01-01 An important new look at Rome s earliest buildings and their context within the broader tradition of Mediterranean culture This groundbreaking study traces the development of Roman architecture and its sculpture from the earliest days to the middle of the 5th century BCE Existing narratives cast the Greeks as the progenitors of classical art and architecture or rely on historical sources dating centuries after the fact to establish the Roman context Author John North Hopkins however allows the material and visual record to play the primary role in telling the story of Rome s origins synthesizing important new evidence from recent excavations Hopkins s detailed account of urban growth and artistic political and social exchange establishes strong parallels with communities across the Mediterranean From the late 7th century Romans looked to increasingly distant lands for shifts in artistic production By the end of the archaic period they were building temples that would outstrip the monumentality of even those on the Greek mainland The book s extensive illustrations feature new reconstructions allowing readers a rare visual exploration of this fragmentary evidence Beyond Buildings J. Donald Ragsdale,2014-03-25 Beyond Buildings Designed Spaces as Visual Persuasion is an assessment of the visual persuasiveness of designed spaces It demonstrates that these spaces are as socially influential as speeches or advertisements are and that an awareness of this influence provides an insight into the cultural roles of designed spaces The book considers a diverse array of spaces ranging from pleasure gardens and parks to city parks and cities themselves and includes assessments of the visual impact of national parks zoological gardens amusement parks battlefields and monuments and the interior spaces of buildings Beyond Buildings is an extension of theories of persuasion and visual communication to landscape architecture and interior design The book bases its assessments on the elements of visual literacy as well as the elements of landscape and interior design to show that such designed spaces as gardens parks battlefields and cities affect the viewer in such a way as to have social impact Architecture and Freedom Owen Hopkins,2018-05-29 Architects are facing a crisis of agency For decades they have seen their traditional role diminish in scope as more and more of their responsibilities have been taken over by other disciplines within the building construction industry Once upon a time we might have seen the architect as the conductor of the orchestra now he or she is but one cog in a vast and increasingly complex machine In an attempt to find a way out of this crisis there is growing debate about how architects might reassert the importance of their role and influence On one side of this argument are those who believe that architects must refocus their attention on the internal demands of the discipline On the other are those who argue that architects must instead reacquaint themselves with what many still believe to be the discipline s core mission of advancing social progress and promoting the public good and at the same time the scope of their traditional disciplinary remit At root this question is fundamentally about freedom about whether architects still possess it if they have ever done and whether it is possible to find the professional disciplinary and individual autonomy to be able to define the spheres of their own practice Presenting a variety of views and perspectives this issue of AD takes us to the heart of what freedom means for architecture as it adapts and evolves in response to the changing contexts in which it is practised in the 21st century Contributors include Phillip Bernstein Peggy Deamer Adam Nathaniel Furman Kate Goodwin Charles Holland Anna Minton Patrik Schumacher Alex Scott Whitby Ines Weizman and Sarah Wigglesworth Featured architects Atelier Kite ScottWhitbyStudio C S Architects Anupama Kundoo Noero Architects Umbrellium and Zaha Hadid Architects
