Poetic Language and Religion in Greece and Rome J. Virgilio García,Angel Ruiz,2014-01-08 This volume contains twenty five contributions adapted from papers presented at the International

Conference on Poetic Language and Religion in Greece and Rome held at the University of Santiago de Compostela on 31st May 1st June 2012 The book fulfils two principal aims to highlight the impulse and continuity of a research field that combines Indo European and Classical Studies which has generally been recognised for several decades as a very fruitful collaboration and to provide the academic community with the current results of one of the most important topics of Classical Studies The first part of the book focuses on the Indo European tradition tracking its remnants particularly in the Classical languages The Indo European poetic tradition can be traced through linguistic reconstruction formulae onomastics and some scattered mentions in literary texts In the second part the focus is placed on the poetic language in Greece and Rome The rich and complex tradition of Classical literatures makes a clear cut description of the inherited or innovative aspects of the religious and literary development more problematical Ritual or cultic poetry onomastics phraseology paeans and hymns oracles as divine language and magic all receive deep and thorough treatment from a reliable ensemble of scholars

Contraband Guides Paul H. D. Kaplan, 2020-04-23 In his best selling travel memoir The Innocents Abroad Mark Twain punningly refers to the black man who introduces him to Venetian Renaissance painting as a contraband guide a term coined to describe fugitive slaves who assisted Union armies during the Civil War By means of this and similar case studies Paul H D Kaplan documents the ways in which American cultural encounters with Europe and its venerable artistic traditions influenced nineteenth century concepts of race in the United States Americans of the Civil War era were struck by the presence of people of color in European art and society and American artists and authors both black and white adapted and transformed European visual material to respond to the particular struggles over the identity of African Americans Taking up the work of both well and lesser known artists and writers such as the travel writings of Mark Twain and William Dean Howells the paintings of German American Emanuel Leutze the epistolary exchange between John Ruskin and Charles Eliot Norton newspaper essays written by Frederick Douglass and William J Wilson and the sculpture of freed slave Eugene Warburg Kaplan lays bare how racial attitudes expressed in mid nineteenth century American art were deeply inflected by European traditions By highlighting the contributions people of black African descent made to the fine arts in the United States during this period along with the ways in which they were represented Contraband Guides provides a fresh perspective on the theme of race in Civil War era American art It will appeal to art historians to specialists in African American studies and American studies and to general readers interested in American art and African American history

From Every People and Nation David M. Rhoads, A diverse group of New Testament scholars and theologians offer myriad paths to a better understanding of the Book of Revelation They discuss topics such as Hispanic Cuban American and African American perspectives ecological issues postcolonial themes and liberation theology The book also provides a set of guidelines for intercultural Bible study The volume's contributors include Brian K Blount Justo Gonzalez Harry O Maier Clarice J Martin James Okoye Tina Pippin Pablo Richard Barbara R Rossing Victor Westhelle Khiok Khng Yeo Consuming

History Jerome de Groot, 2016-02-08 Consuming History examines how history works in contemporary popular culture. Analysing a wide range of cultural entities from computer games to daytime television it investigates the ways in which society consumes history and how a reading of this consumption can help us understand popular culture and issues of representation. In this second edition Jerome de Groot probes how museums have responded to the heritage debate and how new technologies from online game playing to internet genealogy have brought about a shift in access to history, discussing the often conflicted relationship between public and academic history and raising important questions about the theory and practice of history as a discipline. Fully revised throughout with up to date examples from sources such as Wolf Hall, Game of Thrones and 12 Years a Slave, this edition also includes new sections on the historical novel, gaming, social media and genealogy. It considers new ground-breaking texts and media such as YouTube in addition to entities and practices such as re-enactment that have been underrepresented in historical discussion thus far. Engaging with a broad spectrum of source material and comparing the experiences of the UK, the USA, France and Germany as well as exploring more global trends, Consuming History offers an essential path through the debates for readers interested in history, cultural studies and the media.
