M. Devilleneuve, Antoine Auguste Carette, 1830 The Making Of An Economist Arjo Klammer, David Colander, 2019-07-11 This book focuses on the graduate education of a small group of economists those at elite schools It is intended for three audiences aspiring economists economists and the lay public The book reports conversations with MIT Harvard Chicago and Columbia students The Reformation of Common Learning Howard Hotson, 2020-12-24 Ramism was the most innovative and disruptive educational reform movement to sweep through the international Protestant world in the latter sixteenth and early seventeenth centuries During the 1620s the Thirty Years War destroyed the network of central European academies and universities which had generated most of this innovation Students and teachers fleeing the conflict in all directions transplanted that tradition into many different geographical and cultural contexts in which it bore a wide variety of interrelated fruit Within the Dutch Republic post Ramist method played a crucial role in the rapid assimilation of Cartesianism into a network of thriving young academies and universities From England to east central Europe the tradition was no less important in accelerating the reception of Baconianism In the easternmost outpost of the Reformed world in Transylvania the displaced tradition generated a final flourishing of philosophical innovation which exercised a formative influence on the young Leibniz The failure of all of these efforts to assemble the fruits of this tradition into an encyclopaedic synthesis marks a major watershed in Western intellectual history The Reformation of Common Learning brings together all of these aspects of the tradition in a manner which roots them in deeper historical developments and relates a series of far flung and poorly understood developments together in new ways Heritage Planning Harold Kalman, Marcus R. Létourneau, 2020-11-29 This new and substantially revised edition of Heritage Planning Principles and Process offers an extensive overview of the burgeoning fields of heritage planning and conservation Positioning professional practice within its broader applied and theoretical contexts the authors provide a firm foundation for understanding the principles history evolution debates and tools that inform heritage planning while also demonstrating how to effectively enact these processes Few published works focus on the practice of heritage planning The first edition of this book was developed to fill this gap and this second edition builds upon it The book has been expanded in scope to incorporate new research and approaches as well as a wide range of international case studies New themes reflect the emerging recognition that sustainability climate resilience human rights social justice and reconciliation are fundamental to the future of planning Heritage Planning is indispensable reading not only for professionals who transform the built environment but for anyone who wants to understand the ideas and practices of heritage planning and conservation For the benefit of student readers twelve chapters designed to accommodate the academic semester are augmented with concise summaries key terms and definitions questions and learning objectives

Late Neoclassical Economics Yahya M. Madra, 2016-06-10 Several contemporary economic theories revolve around different concepts market failures institutions transaction costs information asymmetries motivational diversity cognitive limitations strategic behaviors and evolutionary stability In recent years many economists have argued that the increase in circulation and mobilization of these new and heterogeneous concepts and their associated methodologies e g experiments evolutionary modelling simulations signify the death of neoclassical economics Late Neoclassical Economics The Restoration of Theoretical Humanism in Contemporary Economic Theory draws on the work of Louis Althusser Michel Foucault and the Amherst School to construct the concept of a self transparent and self conscious human subject Homo economicus as the theoretical humanist core of the neoclassical tradition Instead of identifying the emergent heterogeneity as a break from neoclassicism this book offers a careful genealogy of many of the new concepts and approaches including evolutionary game theory experimental economics and behavioural economics and reads their elaboration as part of the restoration of the theoretical humanist core of the tradition Late neoclassical economics is therefore characterized as a collection of diverse approaches which have emerged in response to the drift towards structuralism This book is suitable for those who study political economy history of economic thought and philosophy of economics The arguments put forward in this text will also resonate with anyone who is interested in the fate of the neoclassical tradition and the future of economic theory
