Cotton, 2008-07-25 Effigy examines the images of a capital defendant portrayed by the defense attorneys and the prosecutor during the guilt and penalty phases of capital trial the trial tactics used to impart

these images and the consequences that result from the jury's attempt to reconcile contradictory images to place one in permanent record as a verdict. These images are starkly contrasted against the backdrop of a brutal murder in which the stereotypes of American fear are realized. Donta Page, the defendant, is an African American male from a low income segment of society while Peyton Tuthill, the victim, was a Caucasian female from a middle income suburb. The prosecuting attorneys depict the defendant as a savage beast juxtaposing their image against that of a troubled youth as Page is portrayed by the defense attorneys. Slowly and methodically developed as figures with diametrically opposed features, none of which overlap or congeal, both the images are portrayed as real, buttressed by the testimony of witnesses rather than constructed. The jury is expected to render a verdict that accepts one and rejects the other; there is no middle ground.

The Witness Stand and Lawrence S. Wrightsman, Jr. Cynthia Willis-Esqueda, Brian H. Bornstein, 2015-11-25. This unique volume salutes the work of pioneering forensic psychologist Lawrence S. Wrightsman, Jr. by presenting current theorizing and research findings on issues that define the field of psychology and law. Ongoing topics in witness behaviors, suspect identification, and juror decision making illustrate how psychology and law complement and also conflict at various stages in legal processes. The book also sheds light on evolving areas such as DNA exonerations, professional trial consulting, and jury selection strategies and the distinct challenges and opportunities these issues present. Noted contributors to the book include Wrightsman himself, who offers salient observations on the field that he continues to inspire. Featured among the topics: The credibility of witnesses; Psychological science on eyewitness identification and the U.S. Supreme Court; False confessions from colonial Salem to today; Identifying juror bias toward a new generation of jury selection research; Law and social science: how interdisciplinary is interdisciplinary enough? Race and its place in the American legal system. With its diverse mix of perspectives and methodologies, The Witness Stand and Lawrence S. Wrightsman, Jr. will interest forensic researchers in academic and applied settings as well as individuals working in the legal system such as attorneys, judges, and law enforcement personnel.
