Motherhood in Literature and Culture Gill Rye, Victoria Browne, Adalgisa Giorgio, Emily Jeremiah, Abigail Lee Six, 2017-06-26 Motherhood remains a complex and contested issue in feminist research as well as public discussion This interdisciplinary volume explores cultural representations of motherhood in various contemporary European contexts including France Italy Germany Portugal Spain and the UK and it considers how such representations affect the ways in which different individuals and groups negotiate motherhood as both institution and lived experience It has a particular focus on literature but it also includes essays that examine representations of motherhood in philosophy art social policy and film The book's driving contention is that through intersecting with other fields and disciplines literature and the study of literature have an important role to play in nuancing dialogues around motherhood by offering challenging insights and imaginative responses to complex problems and experiences This is demonstrated throughout the volume which covers a range of topics including discursive and visual depictions of pregnancy and birth the impact of new reproductive technologies on changing family configurations the relationship between mothering and citizenship the shaping of policy imperatives regarding mothering and disability and the difficult realities of miscarriage child death violence and infanticide The collection expands and complicates hegemonic notions of motherhood as the authors map and analyse shifting conceptions of maternal subjectivity and embodiment explore some of the constraining and or enabling contexts in which mothering takes place and ask searching questions about what it means to be a mother in Europe today It will be of interest not only to those working in gender women s and feminist studies but also to scholars in literary and cultural studies and those researching in sociology criminology politics psychology medical ethics midwifery and related fields Handbook for Language Detectives

Karen Lassen Bruntt,2012 We Need to Talk about Family Roberta Garrett,Tracey Jensen,Angie Voela,2016-08-17 We are the first generation in recent history to not know if our children will have a better life than us Over the past thirty years the dream of upward mobility and stable and securely paid employment has dissipated This collection draws together insights from the disciplines of cultural studies literary theory psychoanalysis psychosocial studies social policy and sociology in order to explore the complex and contested status of the family under neoliberalism At one end of the spectrum the intensification of work and the normalisation of long hours working culture have undermined the time and energy available for private family life At the other end the fantasy of the nuclear family as a potential haven in a heartless world is rapidly unravelling supplanted with a hypercompetitive neo traditionalist mobile neoliberal family seeking to capitalise on the uneven spread of resources in order to maximise the futures of its own children As neoliberalism has always been split between socio economic realities and the expectations of where we should be we are always living with the anxiety of being left behind and the hope that the best is yet to come The chapters in this collection signal the troubles of the neoliberal family in particular the gulf between the practical conditions of family life and the formation of new fantasies The volume addresses the neoliberal family in a range of contexts from the domestic reproductive and bio political regulation of family life the representations of the neoliberal family on television and across social media to the negotiation of family dynamics in maternal memoirs The work provides a much needed corrective to the critical emphasis on the macrostructures of the neoliberal world Standing Up to Supernanny Jennie Bristow,2013-09-09 Parenthood we are told requires a massive adjustment to our lives emotions and relationships and we have to be taught how to deal with that But can it really be so bad that we need constant counselling and parenting classes It is a myth that today s parents are hopeless and lazy in many ways we have become too diligent too hopeful of great outcomes and clear rewards to the point where we lose ourselves in trying to provide some kind of professional service to our children The current obsession with perfect parenting increases our insecurity and distrust of each other and diminishes our authority over our kids This book is about asking Why have we invited Supernanny into our living rooms and how can we kick her out The Routledge Companion to Motherhood
