Corridors of Deceit Peter Wolfe, 1987 John le Carré is viewed by many critics as one of the best spy and espionage novel writers His most famous works are The Spy Who Came in from the Cold Tinker Tailor Soldier Spy and The Little Drummer Girl Peter Wolfe has produced an informative study of le Carré's works showing how le Carré's five years in the Service British Intelligence helped him become a keen observer social historian and expert in bureaucratic politics He has supplanted the technological flair marking much of today's spy fiction with moral complexity and psychological depth He shows us what spies are like how they feel about spying and how spying affects their minds and hearts

Picking Up the Tab Carlton Jackson, 1994 At the memorial held after Martin Ritt's death in 1990 he was hailed as this country's greatest maker of social films From No Down Payment early in his career to Stanley yet he went to a small college in North Carolina Elon where he played football for The Fighting Christians His school days in the South gave him a lifelong love for the region Thus in his movies he was just as much at home with southern as with northern topics He did not deal totally in his southern experience with racism and poverty He directed The Long Hot Summer and The Sound and the Fury both of which described conflicts between and among white social groups He once remarked I have spent most of my film life in the South Some referred to his films as think movies and perhaps this is why he never won an Oscar for best directing But he gave moviegoers all over the world an opportunity to see what America was really like from the viewpoint both of the wealthy and of the poor It may be unfortunately that we will never see his likes again
