over 2 000 ships and small craft are covered from aircraft carriers and battleships to motor launches harbour tenders and tugs Those vessels hired or purchased for wartime service such as trawlers paddle steamers and yachts are also listed During wartime ships are lost it is their purpose to go in harm s way Hostile gunfire torpedoes and mines were established threats throughout the period while the increasing threat of air attack and the introduction of weapons employing new technology such as influence triggered mines homing torpedoes or air launched guided weapons added to the risks of operating in a hostile environment Ships operating in extremely hazardous conditions such as at Dunkirk in 1940 or Singapore in 1942 suffered heavy losses in brief concentrated conflicts but the long continuous campaigns such as the Atlantic convoys or the constant need to sweep for mines also took their toll Peacetime losses are dominated by submarine casualties demonstrating the dangerous character of that service To this may be added the hazardous nature of the sea itself when ships are lost in heavy weather sometimes human error or plain foolishness may play a part The core of the book is taken up by those losses experienced during the Second World War but peacetime losses and more recent conflicts such as the Falklands War of 1982 are included Arranged chronologically every entry notes the outline details of the vessel identifies the Commanding Officer where known and gives a full and often harrowing account of the circumstances of the loss and the number of casualties The details come from extensive original research using primary source material wherever possible particularly the relevant War Diaries and the collected loss and damage reports casualty reports and reports of proceedings now in the National Archives Wartime losses of the Dominions are included to ensure completeness This comprehensive record of warship losses from all causes suffered by the Royal Navy over the past one hundred years is the first single volume work on the subject and represents a major milestone in naval research and publishing The Crisis of British Sea Power James Levy,2024-02-20

This work is a close examination of the conditions surrounding and precipitating the last gasp of British naval hegemony and events that led to its demise Great Britain undertook a massive naval building program in the late 1930s in order to deter aggression and secure dominance at sea against her nascent enemies Nazi Germany and Fascist Italy But the failure of the policy of Appeasement to deter war or delay it into the early 1940s left the building program only partially complete and the exigencies of war led to the cancellation of the critical but costly and time consuming Lion class battleships and the slow delivery of the 1940 battlecruiser HMS Vanguard and two vital fleet carriers Adding to these issues the fall of France spurred the USA to initiate her own even larger naval building program and together with the entry of the powerful and capable Imperial Japanese Navy completely overwhelmed Britain s position as the world s premier naval power This book will be of value to those interested in the history of the Second World War British strategy and the British navy A Critical Dictionary of English Literature and British and American Authors S.
