Reed, 2015-10-13 The Edible Monument considers the elaborate architecture sculpture and floats made of food that were designed for court and civic celebrations in early modern Europe These include popular festivals such as Carnival and the Italian Cuccagna Like illuminations and fireworks ephemeral artworks made of food were not well documented and were challenging to describe because they were perishable and thus quickly consumed or destroyed In times before photography and cookbooks there were neither literary models nor a repertoire of conventional images for how food and its preparation should be explained or depicted Although made for consumption food could also be a work of art both as a special attraction and as an expression of power Formal occasions and spontaneous celebrations drew communities together while special foods and seasonal menus revived ancient legends evoking memories and recalling shared histories values and tastes Drawing on books prints and scrolls that document festival arts elaborate banquets and street feasts the essays in this volume examine the mythic themes and personas employed to honor and celebrate rulers the methods materials and wares used to prepare depict and serve food and how foods such as sugar were transformed to express political goals or accomplishments This book is published on the occasion of an exhibition at the Getty Research Institute from October 13 2015 to March 23 2016      *The Manufacture of Sugar ...
