Hebrew Fascism in Palestine, 1922-1942 Dan Tamir, 2018-04-18 This book focuses on a little studied yet virulent and devoted fascist faction that was active within Zionist circles during the 1920s and 1930s Since the early 1930s the term fascist was regularly used by Labour Zionists in order to defame their right wing opponents the Revisionists The latter group for its part tended to reject such accusations Up to this point however little comprehensive research has been carried out for examining the possible existence of a genuine Hebrew fascism in Palestine according to a global comparative model of generic fascism This book is an attempt to do so examining the first wave of fascism in Palestine during the inter war period The current discussion in Israel about rising fascist movements and organisations gained momentum during the past decade Telling the story of a yet relatively neglected part of the roots of the Israeli right wing may not only shed light on the past but also provide us with a historical perspective when measuring contemporary political movements and events

Terrorist Histories Caoimhe Nic Dhaibheid,2016-11-03 This book addresses provides a series of in depth portraits of men and women who have been labelled terrorists from the 19th 20th and 21st centuries Bridging historical methodologies and theoretical approaches to terrorism studies it seeks to contribute to the developing historicising of terrorism studies This is achieved principally through a prosopographical approach In the preponderance of detailed statistical and quantitative data on the practice of terrorism and political violence the individuals who participate in terrorist acts are often obscured While ideologies and organisations have attracted much scholarly interest less is known of the personal trajectories into political violence particularly from a historical perspective The focus on a relatively narrow cast of high profile terrorist villains to a large part driven by popular and media attention results in a somewhat skewed picture of equal value arguably is a more sustained reflection on the lives of lesser known individuals The book sits at the juncture between terrorism studies historical biography and ethnography It comprises case studies of ten individuals who have engaged in political violence in the nineteenth twentieth and twenty first centuries in a number of locations and with a variety of ideological motivations from Russian inflected anarchism to Islamist extremism Through detailed empirical research crucial themes in the study of terrorism and political violence are explored the diverse individual radicalisation pathways the question of disengagement and re engagement various counter terrorist and counter insurgency strategies adopted by governments and security forces and the changing nature and perception of terrorism over time Although not explicitly comparative a number of themes resonate between the case studies which will be drawn together in the conclusion to this book These include the role of migration in radicalisation the influence of radical family heritages the experience of imprisonment and the narratives which individuals construct to tell their own terrorist life stories It also provides an historically grounded answer to one of the most contentious and heated debates in recent literature on terrorism studies what leads a person to turn to political violence In examining the life narratives of a diverse range of men and women who at some point embraced violence this book seeks to contribute to a growing understanding of the entire arc of a terrorist lifespan from radicalisation to mobilisation to disengagement and beyond This book will be of much interest to students of political violence terrorism studies security studies and politics in general

Making Constitutions in Deeply Divided Societies Hanna Lerner,2011-05-12 How can societies still grappling over the common values and shared vision of their state draft a democratic constitution This is the central puzzle of Making Constitutions in Deeply Divided Societies While most theories discuss constitution making in the context of a moment of revolutionary change Hanna Lerner argues that an incrementalist approach to constitution making can enable societies riven by deep internal disagreements to either enact a written constitution or function with an unwritten one She illustrates the process of constitution writing in three deeply divided societies Israel India and Ireland and explores the various incrementalist strategies deployed by their drafters These include the avoidance of clear decisions the use of ambivalent legal language and the inclusion of contrasting provisions in the constitution Such techniques allow the deferral of controversial choices regarding the foundational aspects of the polity to future political institutions thus enabling the constitution to reflect a divided identity

The Political Psychology of Israeli Prime Ministers Yael Aronoff, 2014-05-29 This book examines leaders of the seemingly intractable conflict between Israel and its Palestinian neighbors It takes as an intellectual target of opportunity six Israeli prime ministers asking why some of them have persisted in some hard line positions but others have opted to become peacemakers This book argues that some leaders do change and above all it explains why and how such changes come about This book goes beyond arguing simply that leaders matter by analyzing how their particular belief systems and personalities can ultimately make a difference to their country's foreign policy especially toward a long standing enemy Although no hard liner can stand completely still in the face of important changes only those with ideologies that have specific components that act as obstacles to change and who have an orientation toward the past may need to be replaced for dramatic policy changes to take place
