whole The authors aim is to demonstrate that multiple reading such as found in Hofstadters Le Ton Beau de Marot is not only a fun game but a bona fide method of translating especially useful for translating poetry between exotic tongues Seventh it is a book of nature writing natural history or metaphysics in the Emersonian sense Gill tried to compile relevant or interesting not necessarily both historical this includes the sea slug in literature English or Japanese and in folklore and scientific facts to read haiku in their light or conversely bring out science from haiku Unlike most nature writers Gill admits to doing no fieldwork but sluggishly staying put and relying upon reports from more mobile souls Eighth it is a book about food symbolism The sea cucumber is noticed by Japanese because they eat it the eating itself involves physical difficulties slipperiness and hardness and pleasures from overcoming them It is also identified with a state of mind where you are what you eat takes on psychological dimensions not found in the food literature of the West Ninth it is a book about Japanese culture Gill does not set out to explain Japan and the sea slug itself is silent but the collection of poems and their explanations which include analysis by poets who responded to the author's questions as well as historical sources take us all around the culture from ancient myths to contemporary dreams Tenth it is a book about sea cucumbers While most species of sea cucumbers are not mentioned and the coverage of the Japanese sea cucumber is sketchy from the scientific point of view Gill does introduce this animal graced to live with no brain thanks to the smart materials comprising it and blessed for sucking in dirty sediment and pooping it out clean Eleventh it is a book about ambiguity Gill admits there is much that cannot be translated much he cannot know and much to be improved in future editions for which purpose he advises readers to see the on line Glosses and Errata in English and Japanese His policy is to confide in rather than slip by the reader unnoticed in the manner of the invisible modern translator and allow the reader to make choices or choose to allow multiple possibilities to exist by not choosing Twelfth the book is the first of dozens of spin offs from a twenty book haiku saijiki poetic almanac called In Praise of Olde Haiku IPOOH for short Gill hopes to finish within the decade Thirteenth The book is a novelty item It has a different often witty header caption on top of each page and copious notes that are rarely academic and often humorous

The Ecology of American Noir Katrina Younes, 2025-04-07 This volume investigates the relationship between the conventions of noir fiction and film and its sub types in relation to environmental crises Dr Younes addresses questions that not only allow readers to re read early hardboiled literature and neo noir films but also help identify a new sub genre of noir and develop an ecocritical methodology eco noir This text traces the development of strategies of mapping urban blight and environmental deterioration in classic hardboiled fiction of the 1940s neo noir films of the 1970s and eco noir texts of the post millennial period Introducing the concept of eco noir as both a sub genre and fictional form as well as a methodology the volume develops a new way of understanding the relationship between noir and climate fiction texts Through a close reading of hardboiled neo noir and eco noir texts including those by Dashiell Hammett Raymond Chandler Robert Towne Kim Stanley Robinson and Jeff VanderMeer it asks and addresses the question how does each sub genre of noir map the noir atmosphere of the private investigator's natural setting in terms of environmental toxicity. The Ecology of American Noir contributes to critical conversations in both noir and ecocritical scholarship, making clear how a new understanding of noir as defined through environmental and atmospheric conditions invites readers, viewers, and scholars of the genre to generate meaningful dialogues about our decaying and deteriorating environment.
