Property and Equality Thomas Widlok, Wolde Gossa Tadesse, 2005 The ethnography of egalitarian social systems was first met with sheer disbelief Today it is still hotly debated in a number of fields and has gained sophistication as well as momentum This collection of essays on property and equality acknowledges this diversification by presenting research results in two complementary volumes They bring together a wide range of authoritative researchers most of whom have worked with hunter gatherer groups These two volumes cover existing ethnographic and theoretical ground while maintaining a clear focus on the relation between property and equality The book consists of the most recent work of prominent members of the original group of researchers in hunter gatherer studies among them James Woodburn and Richard Lee and very recent ethnography on hunter gatherers and other egalitarian systems

DISCOVERING FORESTS Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2018-04-19 This teacher's guide aims to introduce students aged 10-13 to forests their current state and multiple values while allowing teachers to meet curricular objectives The teaching modules focus on defining forests investigating their role in the water cycle exploring some of their products and introducing students to sustainable forest management The teaching draws inspiration from internationally recognized pedagogical approaches such as the inquiry method Most of the learning takes place by doing in classrooms or under the trees rather than being paper based although reading and writing exercises are also included The teacher's guide is complemented by a separate learning guide for school students The State of the World publications cover important global themes that are core to FAO's mission eradicating hunger food insecurity and malnutrition eliminating poverty and driving forward economic and social progress for all and ensuring sustainable natural resources management

Biggest Forests Yves Earhart, 2025-02-12 Biggest Forests explores vital megaforests ecosystems exceeding one million square kilometers and their crucial role in Earth's climate and biodiversity It highlights how these forests spanning from the Amazon to boreal regions act as major carbon sinks aiding in climate change mitigation and support a wealth of plant and animal species essential for ecological balance The book argues for immediate international action to protect these invaluable resources especially as they face escalating threats The book progresses by first establishing the ecological importance of megaforests detailing their role in carbon sequestration water cycling and biodiversity conservation It then investigates threats like deforestation climate change impacts wildfires and pest outbreaks and mining Finally it proposes sustainable management and conservation strategies examining international agreements and community initiatives The approach combines rigorous scientific analysis with real world narratives of people living within these ecosystems offering a comprehensive view of both
