Description:

Marketable robots are poised to achieve significant growth as the food supply for the world starts to adopt automated processes. Grow lights have become more sophisticated and less expensive to run as solar and wind energy are adopted by greenhouses and plant factories.

Plant Factory (PF), vertical farming is a closed environment, in which plants are grown under lights in shelves stacked one on another. All the elements needed for plant growth are artificially controlled, a process that removes detrimental influences such as pesticides and poor weather conditions. Traditional agriculture lives at the mercy of the elements. A plant factory is run based on science. Science is used to produce plants based on carefully controlled spectrum best for plant growth, to produce plants of a fixed quality, quantity, cost, time to harvest, and tuned to control the sale price.

Plant factory weed control is able to achieve crop yield increases. Robot technology is deploying machines for weed control, promising to improve crop yields. Robots make the crops safer by eliminating or virtually eliminating herbicides. Downstream processing system solutions and robots achieve automation of process. Robots meet a rugged hygiene and safety regulations, work tirelessly 24 hours a day, and reduce human workers of physically arduous tasks. Robots contribute to the freshness, variety and quality of food. Projects are ongoing.

High value crops are a target of agricultural robotic development. What could be tastier than a strawberry, perfectly formed, and perfectly ripened? New plant factories that grow fruits and vegetables on shelves indoors are able to improve the delivery of consistent quality food, and to implement efficiency in managing food production.

Strawberries are a high profit crop. A new generation of plant factories have just been born making it forever spring in the strawberry growing business. Strawberry harvesters with the world's most advanced technology to give maximum performance in a plant factory. Harvesting robots can replace the productivity of the farming business. Growers can get the best results in a berry farm using automated process. Automated picking/collection systems improve labor productivity, give speed and aging to harvest operations.

Food factories produce organic vegetables. This represents a next step in the application of automated process to everyday life. Automated process for farming provides immediate help for food stores. Plant factories support farming practices that are not dependent on the climate. Food factories produce organic vegetables 24 hours a day. With the land suitable for farming depleting quickly, new types of farming are evolving.

Plant Factories Market Driving Forces:

- Demand for ability to grow food consistently
- Demand for ability to grow food locally
- Can grow food in warehouses
- Can grow food in the home
- Dedicating space that is efficient for producing food
- Fresh, sanitary food available consistently
- Food factories
- Ability to produce organic vegetables
- Ability to produce vegetables 24 hours a day
- Land available for farming depleting quickly
- New types of farming are evolving
- Growing of vegetables indoors all year round

A plant factory allows the growing of vegetables indoors all year round. It is a system that artificially creates the environment necessary for plants to grow by controlling the amount of carbon dioxide, air, and light from light-emitting diodes (LEDs).

An Agricultural Strategy for Albania World Bank,European Economic Community,1992 Agriculture is by far the Albanian economy s most important sector in terms of value added and employment During the political interregnum from July 1991 to March 1992 the sector was severely affected by input and foreign exchange shortages social upheavals linked to the privatization of cooperative land and assets throughout the country and disruptions caused by the absence of alternative distribution and allocation mechanisms to replace the collapsing centrally planned system Social and economic chaos led to rapidly falling living standards for the vast majority of the population especially in poor rural areas Agricultural surpluses dwindled to almost nothing as Albania's 380 000 new private farmers concentrated on ensuring the subsistence of their families This volume presents both short term and medium term recommendations on actions required to achieve the objectives of restoring food security providing income and employment for the rural population contributing to rapid economic recovery and managing the transition from a highly centralized command economy to a market economy in agriculture The volume also presents a technical assistance program to strengthen government administrative capability during this transition period and supports the implementation of the program of actions Eleven annexes and a statistical appendix offer detailed information on various aspects of the sector Economic Diversification Policies in Natural Resource Rich Economies Sami Mahroum, Yasser Al-Saleh, 2016-08-05 Economic diversification remains at the top of the agenda for hundreds of regions around the world From the single commodity economies of African countries and the Caribbean to the many single industry regions of Europe and North America as well as the oil and gas rich but volatile hydrocarbon economies Economic diversification policies have been around for almost a century with varying degrees of success and failure Economic Diversification Policies in Natural Resource Rich Economies takes a special interest in the policy experiences of a set of different countries that have extractive industries representing significant drivers of their economies and subsequently are significant contributors to government revenues It explores twelve cases including upper middle to high income economies such as Canada Australia Iceland and Norway emerging economies such as Latin America the GCC Saudi and UAE Kazakhstan Malaysia and Russia as well as the developing economy of Uganda Each chapter provides a review of economic diversification experiences including policy environment diversification strategies desired outcomes the role of government and a critical evaluation of achievements This book is suitable for those who study environmental economics development economics and resource management Competitive Strategy Analysis For

Agriculture Steven C. Blank, 2014-12-18 This book answers the questions What is happening to American agriculture and why Steven C Blank uses portfolio theory to analyze both macro and microeconomic data that paints a clear picture of the trends in agriculture and explains why these trends are consistent with market evolution and global economic development He clarifies agriculture's specific role in economic development with a focus on the current and future globalizing commodity markets. The book features empirical research that demonstrates the link between farm level investment decisions and regional and national economic trends. It shows how the dynamic environment of industrialization and globalization of agriculture is part of a continuing development that is driven by technological innovation. This all points to a future with a very different agricultural production sector and some extremely important policy choices that will face the entire country.

Transformation of the Thai broiler industry Chokesomritpol, Phunjasit, Naranong, Viroj, Kennedy, Adam, 2018-11-02. The Thai broiler industry is an innovative and successful story of transformation from a traditional backyard production system to a fully industrialized agri industry. It is among the first agricultural products in Thailand that developed into a modern value chain that is fully integrated and able to expand its production to keep prices in check whilst making chicken the go-to source of protein. Highlighted by its expansion into regional and global markets through trades and investments, the success of the industry is largely a result of strong and visionary business models that calculated risks yet were clear on their objectives on how to secure emerging markets. This paper describes the development of the Thai broiler industry, documenting its path and reasons behind its success. Focus is particularly placed on the Thai industry's leader, Charoen Pokphand Group (CP), and its business decisions over the years that enabled the company to gain a foothold in the highly competitive international market for chicken meat.
