Vernacular Architecture Mete Turan, 2024-11-07 Originally published in 1990 as part of the Ethnoscapes Current Challenges in the Environmental Social Sciences series reissued now with a new series introduction Vernacular Architecture Paradigms of Environmental Response was not meant to be collection to represent one view or approach The only unifying element among the essays is the subject matter It is clear that there are not only disagreements over the interpretation of objective facts but more essentially there is a fundamental difference in the pursuit of scientific knowledge However regardless of these differences if the present volume as an attempt to create a theoretical construct called into question the ideographic approaches which do not penetrate the surface which persistently deal with formal qualities and which are content with only simple deterministic relations then it satisfies the major criterion that this collection of essays set for itself namely to broaden the scope of discussion

Understanding Architecture, Vernacular Architecture in the Pre-Columbian Americas Christina Halperin, Lauren Schwartz, 2016-09-13 Vernacular Architecture in the Pre Columbian Americas reveals the dynamism of the ancient past where social relations and long term history were created posthole by posthole brick by brick This collection shifts attention away from the elite and monumental architectural traditions of the region to instead investigate the creativity subtlety and variability of common architecture and the people who built and dwelled in them At the heart of this study of vernacular architecture is an emphasis on ordinary people and their built environments and how these everyday spaces were pivotal in the making and meaning of social and cultural dynamics Providing a deeper and more nuanced temporal perspective of common buildings in the Americas the editors have deftly framed a study that highlights sociocultural diversity while at the same time facilitating broader comparative conversations around the theme of vernacular architecture With diverse case studies covering a broad range of periods and regions Vernacular Architecture in the Pre Columbian Americas is an important addition to the growing body of scholarship on the indigenous architecture of the Americas and is a key contribution to our archaeological understandings of past built environments

Islamic Heritage Architecture and Art III J. Casares, S. Dominguez Amarillo, 2020-08-11 Islamic architecture has enriched design with a wide variety of structural shapes including among others unique arches a wide variety of vaults and domes which allow for new forms to be developed The influence that these structural forms have in non Islamic countries was one of the themes of the 3rd International Conference on Islamic Heritage Architecture and Art at which the included papers were presented There is much to learn from past experiences to arrive at solutions which are environmentally sound and sustainable in the long term As conventional energy resources become scarce the Islamic design heritage can offer invaluable lessons on how to deal in an efficient manner with cases of hard and extreme environments Traditional architecture and urban environments in most Islamic countries are now being eroded by overemphasis on a global type of architecture and city planning As a consequence many regions are losing their identity It will become increasingly important for new developments to take light of what the classical Islamic urban designs and architectures have to offer modern society An equally important aspect covered is the analysis of the materials employed and the types of structural elements particularly those unique to Islamic architecture Preserving this heritage requires the development of appropriate conservation techniques in response to the different materials used and the ways structural forms work including under extreme conditions such as earthquakes These papers deal with the design of many types of buildings in Islamic countries including not only the better known public buildings like mosques mausolea citadels and forts but also houses and gardens engineering works such as bridges and dams irrigation systems and many others which have also had a profound impact on society
