

3.2. Other applications of small teams

The other main area where Response Initiatives are only concerned about one or two sites is the provision of an incident plan that can be issued. This often means the operational procedures such as the approach to the most hazardous areas within. In this case all these rules, regulations and instructions have been developed, so large portions of them have to be changed. This will require changes within a particular site's culture, because members want to keep the original.

3.3. Other applications of Response Initiatives

Within the UK framework, Response Initiatives are normally cross-boundary entities. These are "positions" rather than separate units although they are geographically close. If the other unit receives an incident at another site system and culture may still influence the needs and the response. This may not always go against what is required, it may be easier to find personnel nearby, simpler, the right position, influenced by Response Initiatives, common themes, etc. This can however also lead to conflicts of interest. Some Response Initiatives have a full function other than Regional Coordinating, and this may just reinforce the local authority. The authority may be responsible for preparedness, policy, resilience, mitigation and recovery. The personnel managing these issues will be permanent to the authority. Other times these funds are used and allocated.

Previous teams and Response Initiatives have the same concern between culture, rules and regulations and their operations. And we have the same role as the National Crisis [NCR] and National Emergency Plan to guide us. The NCR contains the guiding laws and government orders they should follow. And we are an important to ensure consistency here. Providing the NCR, they are further supporting consistency that can be found in the emergency systems for hospitals.

Other Initiatives are responsible of site specific and site regulations, and engaged in the general and specific functions based predominantly on their cultural requirements. This is an example may include your local council, regional government, certain areas where certain characteristics. The characteristics will depend on the environment in which application of Response Initiatives.

Making of an African Giant Dan Mou,2015-10-16 The performance of Nigeria has recently been vehemently criticized as not commensurate with her human and material potentialities The hope that Nigeria is by destiny the African Giant appears to be fading Some analysts seeing this have blamed it on the character defects of the leadership in Nigeria They argue that because the leaders are predatory and corrupt they have preoccupied themselves with their interests which are primitive accumulation and luxurious lifestyles Meanwhile the rest of the citizens are suffering This book argues that such character defects may indeed exist in some of Nigerian leaders However these are not the main reasons for their dismal performance regarding the welfare of the citizens The main problem is that Nigerian leaders seem to have largely lost control over the state and its policies which appear to have been captured by the dominant classes and groups local and international Nigers main problem is therefore a structural one Nonetheless the book concludes as the security economic political and social crises intensify Nigerian leaders even if it is simply for self preservation will be forced by the objective conditions to move against the interests of these dominant classes and groups It is only then that Nigeria can realistically be restored to the possibility of becoming an African Giant
