Introducing Archaeology, Third Edition Robert J. Muckle, Stacey L. Camp, 2020-11-03 Situating archaeology in academic social and political contexts the third edition emphasizes the ethics and the scholarship of women and includes considerable focus on the archaeology of recent and contemporary times.

Political Culture and the Making of Modern Nation-States Edward Weisband, Courtney I P Thomas, 2015-11-17 This book focuses on transformations of political culture from times past to future present. It defines the meaning of political culture and explores the cultural values and institutions of kinship communities and dynastic intermediaries including chiefdoms and early states. It systematically examines the rise and gradual universalization of modern sovereign nation states. Contemporary debates concerning nationality, nationalism, citizenship and hyphenated identities are engaged. The authors recount the making of political culture in the American nation state and look at the processes of internal colonialism in the American experience, examining how major ethnic, sectarian, racial and other distinctions arose and congealed into social and cultural categories. The book concludes with a study of the Holocaust, genocide, crimes against humanity and the political cultures of violation in post colonial Rwanda and in racialized ethno political conflicts in various parts of the world. Struggles over legitimacy in nation building and state building are at the heart of this new take on the important role of political culture.

Cross-Cultural Perspectives on Couples with Mixed HIV Status: Beyond Positive/Negative Asha Persson, Shana D. Hughes, 2016-10-24 This edited volume presents a detailed portrait of couples living with mixed HIV status where one partner is HIV positive and the other negative. Readers will come to understand the various and complex ways in which these mixed status or serodiscordant couples build a life together within the shadow of HIV related stigma. Spanning the globe, coverage explores serodiscordance as a negotiated practice and process inseparable from the social context in which it is situated. The book shows how couples draw on diverse and sometimes contradictory cultural discourses of medicine, romance and normality to make sense of and manage their mixed HIV status and any perceived risks not uncommonly in ways that depart from prevailing HIV prevention messages. Throughout compelling personal stories accompany the empirical research, sharing the firsthand experiences of men and women in serodiscordant relationships. Bringing together research from diverse disciplines and geographical regions, this book contributes important insights for future HIV health promotion as well as offers new knowledge to scholarship on the cultural intersections of illness and intimacy. It will appeal to a broad audience working across the fields of HIV health, gender, sexuality, development and human rights.

Resources in Education, 1999 A Practical Guide to Arts-related Research Maggi Savin Baden, Katherine Wimpenny, 2014-11-27 This book outlines the principles and practices of arts related inquiry.

and provides both suggestions about conducting research in the field as well as case study examples The ideas presented here have emerged from the authors own experiences of undertaking arts related research and the challenges of implementing these approaches The book therefore draws on personal research practice and experience to address the concerns academics increasingly appear to be voicing about developing the scholarship and practice of arts related research There is a need for greater attention to and clarity on issues of theoretical positioning methodology and methods when conducting robust and reputable arts related research which this book provides

Kenneth Cushner, 2004-09-10 If young people are to be adequately prepared for a complex and interdependent global society, educational experiences must consider the broader world in which teachers and their students live. Teachers can be central to the process of intercultural development and must encourage and model an intercultural orientation for their young students as well as for their communities. A critical dimension of achieving intercultural understanding and competence is personal experience. In Beyond Tourism, Kenneth Cushner examines the development of intercultural competence through various dimensions of student travel and intercultural encounters both for the classroom teacher conducting group travel as well as individuals embarking upon student exchange programs, intensive summer experiences and international student teaching. The author examines aspects of cross cultural orientation, trip planning and preparation, intercultural adjustment in country, experience and post experience impact through his experiences of organizing and leading international and intercultural educational programs for children, pre service and in service teachers on all seven continents. Cushner integrates current research on the intercultural experience and relates it to his personal travel experiences while providing guidelines to enable educators to integrate reflective travel as an active part of the educational experience of young people. Multicultural social studies and foreign language teachers, international educators and study abroad officers and those interested in experiential education will find this book invaluable.
