

OSCE SCENARIO:

You are working as a nursing student with the local office nurse. Your job is to do preliminary assessments of all patients before they see the Nurse Practitioner. A 40-year-old male named Pat Pressure presents into your care after checking their blood pressure at a local pharmacy. Pat is worried about “high blood pressure”. You, the student, will meet the patient for the first time and perform a problem focused assessment involving a short subjective data collection and physical exam of the stated problem.
