Schwind, Gail M. Lindsay, 2008-04-01 The six writers in this book explore the contribution and the transferability of narrative inquiry from curriculum studies to daily life in education and in healthcare They examine the interconnectivity of reconstructed experience with the construction of disciplinary identity and knowledge Thinking narratively they write autobiographically about relationships between teachers students nurses colleagues and or people in their care As narrative inquirers they are curious how research moves forward professional situations in education and healthcare The narrative plotlines of knowledge construction curriculum building and identity formation thread through the chapters In education and healthcare the reconstructed experience of a teacher is shown to be foundational to curriculum content and processes In nursing education we see congruence between narrative inquiry Clandinin Connelly and theorists such as Watson 1999 include the nurse in the caring situation as shapers of the experience of people in their care As practitioner researchers teachers in education and healthcare construct who they are and how they are in relationship in the context of social situations Inquiry not certainty Dewey 1929 is a life stance that is formative for education Practitioners in education and in healthcare will be interested in this book as a way to make meaning of their experience Policymakers and administrators will be interested in this book as a way of conceptualizing teachers knowledge as a source of curriculum Researchers will be interested in this book as a demonstration of how narrative inquiry illuminates ways of being that are educative and an innovative way to study curriculum Self-directed Learning Merryl Hammond, Rob Collins, 2013-09-05 Aimed at those educators who wish to make their practice more consistent with progressive educational principles namely helping learners to take greater control over planning and managing their own learning The book contains a balance of theory and practical suggestions
