Fusion Hans Wilhelmsson, 1999-12-01 Journeying through fusion in the universe Fusion A Voyage Through the Plasma Universe discusses all aspects of fusion and how they relate to our universe It also studies the attempts to produce fusion energy on Earth The book addresses a wide range of topics from stars galaxies comets pulsars black holes and quasars to the auroras lightning and fluorescent tubes Interestingly the author explores how artists and authors like Vincent van Gogh Leonardo da Vinci and Hannes Alfvén have been fascinated by cosmic phenomena that rely on fusion and plasmas He discusses motions in plasma such as flames waves and whirls similar to those that occur in water The book also examines several other branches of science where parallels can be found with fusion plasmas including ecological systems that provide only very short term weather forecasts and the dramatic changes in the world economy with its explosive tendencies and sometimes catastrophic results It briefly shows how these nonlinear phenomena are at the heart of modern fusion plasma theory

Choreographies of Multilingualism Tong-King Lee, 2022 Singapore boasts a complex mix of languages and is therefore a rich site for the study of multilingualism and multilingual society In particular writing is a key medium in the production of the nation's multilingual order one that is often used to organize language relations for public consumption In Choreographies of Multilingualism Tong King Lee examines the linguistic landscape of written language in Singapore from street signage and advertisements to institutional anthologies and text based memorabilia to language primers and social media based poetry to reveal the underpinning language ideologies and how those ideologies figure in political tensions The book analyzes the competing official and grassroots narratives around multilingualism and takes a nuanced approach to discuss the marginalization celebration or appropriation of Singlish Bringing together theoretical perspectives from sociolinguistics multimodal semiotics translation and cultural studies Lee demonstrates that multilingualism in Singapore is an emergent and evolving construct through which identities and ideologies are negotiated and articulated Broad ranging and cross disciplinary this book offers a significant contribution to our understanding of language in Singapore and more broadly to our understanding of multilingualism and the sociolinguistics of writing Translation and Linguistic Hybridity Susanne Klinger, 2014-12-05 This volume outlines a new approach to the study of linguistic hybridity and its translation in cross cultural writing By building on concepts from narratology cognitive poetics stylistics and film studies it explores how linguistic hybridity contributes to the reader's construction of the textual agent's world view and how it can be exploited in order to encourage the reader to empathise with one world view rather than another and consequently how translation shifts in linguistic hybridity can affect the world view that the reader constructs Linguistic hybridity is a hallmark of cross cultural texts such as postcolonial migrant and travel writing as source and target language come into contact not only during the process of writing these texts but also often in the fictional or non fictional story world Hence translation is frequently not only the medium but also the object of representation By focussing on the relation between medium and object of representation the book complements existing research that so far has neglected this aspect The book thus not only contributes to current scholarly debates within and beyond the discipline of translation studies concerned with cross cultural writing and linguistic hybridity but also adds to the growing body of translation studies research concerned with questions of voice and point of view Race in Translation Robert Stam, Ella Shohat, 2012-05-28 While the term culture wars often designates the heated arguments in the English speaking world spiraling around race the canon and affirmative action in fact these discussions have raged in diverse sites and languages Race in Translation charts the transatlantic traffic of the debates within and between three zones the U S France and Brazil Stam and Shohat trace the literal and figurative translation of these multidirectional intellectual debates seen most recently in the emergence of postcolonial studies in France and whiteness studies in Brazil The authors also interrogate an ironic convergence whereby rightist politicians like Sarkozy and Cameron join hands with some leftist intellectuals like Benn Michaels and Bourdieu in condemning multiculturalism and identity politics At once a report from various fronts in the culture wars a mapping of the germane literatures and an argument about methods of reading the cross border movement of ideas the book constitutes a major contribution to our understanding of the Diasporic and the Transnational Sliding Stop B.
