Guide to Reference in Business and Economics Steven W. Sowards, Elisabeth Leonard, 2014-07-22 Focusing on print and electronic sources that are key to business and economics reference this work is a must have for every reference desk. Readers will find sources of information on such topics as Business law, E-commerce, International business, Management of information systems, Occupations and careers, Market research. Guide to Reference is used internationally as the source of first resort for identifying information and training reference professionals and this book will help connect librarians and researchers to the most relevant sources of information on business and economics. Introductory Accounting Daniel P. Tinkelman, 2015-12-22 Introductory Accounting adopts a measurement approach to teaching graduate students the basics of accounting. Integrating both financial and managerial principles from the U.S. and around the globe, it links accounting to other areas of business such as finance, operations, and management. Providing students with the context to understand how and why accounting is a valuable part of business, readers will gain an understanding of accounting's role in financial analysis and managerial decision making. Tinkelman discusses accounting as an imperfect measurement system offering guidance on how quantitative data can benefit analysts and managers when used with an understanding of its limitations. The book is strongly grounded in research and also draws on plenty of examples and cases to bring these issues to life. The conversational style of Introductory Accounting will appeal to MBA students while key terms and illustrative problems make assignments easy for instructors. Additional materials for students and instructors are available on the book's companion website.

Knowledge Production and Contradictory Functions in African Higher Education Nico Cloete, Peter Maassen, 2015-03-01 The dominant global discourse in higher education now focuses on world class universities inevitably located predominantly in North America, Europe, and increasingly East Asia. The rest of the world, including Africa, is left to play catch up. But that discourse should focus rather on the tensions, even contradictions, between excellence and engagement with which all universities must grapple. Here the African experience has much to offer the high participation and generously resourced systems of the so-called developed world. This book offers a critical review of that experience and so makes a major contribution to our understanding of higher education. Castells in Africa Muller, Johan, Cloete, Nico, 2017-11-28 Castells in Africa: Universities and Development collects the papers produced by Manuel Castells on his visits to South Africa and publishes them in a single volume for the first time. The book also publishes a series of empirically based papers which together display the multi-faceted and far-sighted scope of his theoretical framework and its fecundity for fine-grained, detailed empirical investigations on universities and development in Africa. Castells, in his afterword to this book, always looking forward, assesses the role of the university in the wake of the upheavals to the global economic order. He decides the university's function not only remains but is more important than ever. This book will serve as an introduction to the relevance of his work for higher education in Africa for postgraduate students, reflective practitioners, and researchers.
