Nelson, Michael J. Shaw, Troy J. Strader, 2009-08-07 Recent economic political and technological forces are changing the landscape of electronic business and electronic commerce Although great strides have been made over the past in understanding researching and advancing e business rarely have we witnessed its use so profound and yet its limitations so pronounced than what has been on global public display for the past 18 months As a result new e commerce strategies and techniques are emerging collaborative value creation is essential and e business models are being refined and developed with special attention towards IS in financial markets health care and related institutions It is for these reasons and many more that we are so particularly excited and grateful for the collection of papers included in this Value Creation in e Business Management LNBIP volume number 36 The papers selected in this volume address these emerging e business issues and are organized into four research lines Business Models for the Digital Economy Electronic and Mobile Commerce Behavioral and Global Issues IS in Financial Markets and Institutions Web 2.0 and E Commerce and Collaborative Value Creation The first group Business Models for the Digital Economy provides a closer examination of business models from a rich mixture of segments in the IT industry They include Hoyer and Stanoevska Slabeva's business model types for enterprise mashup intermediaries Riehle's commercial open source business model Chen's interesting comparison between iPhone versus Kindles in electronic book sales and Lyons and coauthors business models in emerging online services Shopping 3.0 Prof Dr Cor Molenaar, 2012-09-28 Retailers are in difficult times The recession global competition government regulation and the growth of the Internet mean that costs are rising but margins are increasingly squeezed Cor Molenaar's Shopping 3.0 offers an engaging convincing and well researched manifesto for the future of retailing a manifesto which encourages retailers to switch their approach from a strategy that is based around transactions to one that is based around customers. Logic dictates that there is no one single strategy that will work for all retailers; some of them may indeed benefit from investing in e-retailing solutions and the Internet, but for others success will lie in developing a service based on customer experience or one with some apparently bespoke elements. A strategy to appeal to customers as individuals. Shopping 3.0 examines all these changes. It sketches the world of consumers: those who make their purchases from the comfort of their armchair and those who enjoy shopping with friends. Cor Molenaar explores the impact of changing consumer attitudes to shopping, the role of new technology in future retailing and the changing face of both city centre and out of town shops and malls. Shopping 3.0 offers a welcome helping hand for retailers, both physical and web-based shopkeepers, something to help you make sense of the ongoing revolution in shopping and to plan or adjust your business strategy to enable you not just to survive but to thrive in a world that will look very different in a few years' time.
