Kim, 2005-07-15 In 1929 Ronald Knox a prominent member of the English Detection Club included in his tongue in cheek Ten Commandments for Detective Novelists the rule that No Chinaman must figure in the story In 1983 Ruth Rendell published Speaker of Mandarin reflecting not only a change in British detective fiction but also a dramatic change in the British cultural landscape Like much of the rest of British popular culture the detective novel became more and more ethnically diverse and populated by characters with increasingly varied religious backgrounds Ten essays examine the changing nature of British detective fiction focusing on the shifting view of otherness of such authors as Ruth Rendell Elizabeth George Peter Ackroyd Caroline Graham Christopher Brookmyer Denise Mina and John Mortimer Unlike their American counterparts British detective writers have been until recently overwhelmingly white and the essays here explore how these authors delve into ethnic diversity within a historically homogeneous culture Religion has also played an important role in the genre ranging from the moral certainty of the early part of the 20th century to the skepticism and hostility that is part of contemporary fiction How this transition was made and how it reflects the changing nature of British culture are detailed here
