Romantic era literature Outstanding Academic Title Choice Literary Advertising and the Shaping of British Romanticism investigates the entwined histories of the advertising industry and the gradual commodification of literature over the course of the Romantic Century 1750 1850 In this engaging and detailed study Nicholas Mason argues that the seemingly antagonistic arenas of marketing and literature share a common genealogy and in many instances even a symbiotic relationship Drawing from archival materials such as publishers account books merchants trade cards and authors letters Mason traces the beginnings of many familiar modern advertising methods including product placement limited time offers and journalistic puffery to the British book trade during the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries Until now Romantic scholars have not fully recognized advertising s cultural significance or the importance of this period in the origins of modern advertising Mason explores Lord Byron s appropriation of branding Letitia Elizabeth Landon s experiments in visual marketing and late Romantic debates over advertising s claim to be a new branch of the literary arts Mason uses the antics of Romantic era advertising to illustrate the profound implications of commercial modernity both in economic practices governing the book trade and more broadly in the development of the modern idea of literature
