Free for All? Joseph P. Newhouse, Rand Corporation. Insurance Experiment Group, 1993 In the most important health insurance study ever conducted researchers at the RAND Corporation devised all experiment to address two key questions in health care financing how much more medical care will people use if it is provided free of charge and what are the consequences for their health For three or five year periods the experiment measured both use and health outcomes in populations carefully selected to be representative of both urban and rural regions throughout the United States Participants were enrolled in a range of insurance plans requiring different levels of copayment for medical care from zero to 95 percent The researchers found that in plans that reimbursed a higher proportion of the bill patients used substantially more services indeed those who paid nothing used 40 percent more services than those required to pay a high deductible but the effect on the health of the average person was negligible In addition participants who were assigned at random to a well established health maintenance organization used hospitals substantially less than those in the fee for service system again with no measurable effect on the health of the average person This book collects in one place for the first time results previously dispersed through many journals over many years Drawing comprehensive coherent conclusions from an immense amount of data it is destined to be a classic work serving as an invaluable reference for all those concerned with health care policy health service researchers policymakers in both the public and the private sectors and students

Design Computing and Cognition '18 John S. Gero, 2019-01-07 This is the proceedings of the Eighth International Conference on Design Computing and Cognition DCC 18 held at the Politecnico di Milano in Italy This volume presents both advances in theory and applications and demonstrates the depth and breadth of design computing and design cognition Design thinking the label given to the acts of designing has become a paradigmatic view that has transcended the discipline of design and is now widely used in business and elsewhere As a consequence there is an increasing interest in design research This volume contains papers that represent the state of the art research and developments in design computing and design cognition This book is of particular interest to researchers developers and users of advanced computation in design and those who need to gain a better understanding of designing that can be obtained through empirical studies

Reflective Planning Practice Theory Cases and Methods uses structured first person reflection to reveal the artistry of planning practice The value of professional reflection is widely recognized but there is a difference between acknowledging it and doing it This book takes up that challenge providing planners reflections on past practice as well as prompts for reflecting in the midst of planning episodes It explains a reflection framework and employs it in seven case studies written by planning educators who also practice The cases reveal practical judgments made during the planning episode and takeaways for practice as the planners used logic and emotion and applied convention and invention The practical judgments are explained from the perspective of the authors personal experiences purposes and professional style and their interpretation of the rich context that underpins the cases including theories sociopolitical aspects workplace setting and roles The book seeks to awaken students and practitioners to the opportunities of a pragmatic reflective approach to planning practice

Ideas and Solidarities of the Medieval Laity Susan Reynolds,2022-05-29 This book contains essays written over the past 25 years about medieval urban communities and about the loyalties and beliefs of medieval lay people in general Most writing about medieval religious political legal and social ideas starts from treatises written by academics and assumes that ideas trickled down from the clergy to the laity Susan Reynolds whether writing about the struggles for liberty of small English towns the national solidarities of the Anglo Saxons or the capacity of medieval peasants to formulate their own attitudes to religion rejects this assumption She suggests that the medieval laity had ideas of their own that deserve to be taken seriously Academy; a Weekly Review of Literature, Learning, Science and Art ,1880 The Poetical gazette the official organ of the Poetry society and a review of poetical affairs nos 4 7 issued as supplements to the Academy v 79 Oct 15 Nov 5 Dec 3 and 31 1910 The Academy and Literature ,1895 Proceedings of the Ninth International Joint Conference on Artificial Intelligence International Joint Conferences on Artificial Intelligence,1985
