Process Benchmarking in the Water Industry Renato Parena,E. Smeets,I. Troquet,2002-03-01 Free market mechanisms increasingly influence former monopoly sectors such as water and wastewater services with requirements for more transparency and efficiency Small and large scale consumers alike demand greater insight into how drinking water tariffs are structured and into the level of service Public and private shareholders require guarantees on water supply at a reasonable price with the requisite quality both of service and product and reliability together with careful eco management Developing sound policies requires information on key industry issues such as water resources public health water services the environment and the cost of providing the level of the service demanded by customers and regulators Similarly informed decision making on issues of ownership industry structure competition policy and effective regulation requires accurate analysis of performance across the industry throughout the world In many sectors of industry Performance Indicators and Benchmarking exercises are widely used as suitable management tools for gaining and maintaining continuous improvement and competitive advantage Addressing the need to promote best practice principles as part of the advocacy for the advancement of water and sanitation services is currently one of the major governance issues that IWA is challenged to tackle. The objective is to develop generally accepted procedures and methodologies able to provide decision makers with an overall perception of the utility performance as a sound basis for making strategic choices. This requires the definition of a reference framework for Performance Indicators and Benchmarking methodologies as well as adequate models of aggregation that fit the basic needs of the key types of user. The Task Force on Performance Indicators operating within the IWA Operation and Management Specialist Group and the Task Force on Benchmarking operating within the IWA Statistics and Economics Specialist Group were set up with the remit to develop the definition of such a common language. The Task Force on Benchmarking carried out a survey among the countries represented inside the Statistics and Economics Specialist Group with the aim of designing a framework of the various national approaches to Benchmarking in terms of the type, degree, evolution and main adopted concepts of Benchmarking. Development of the above concepts in focusing Benchmark objectives. The survey indicated that in the main initiatives of Process Benchmarking are voluntary and non systematic. It is evident that many water utilities are on what the European Foundation for Quality Management calls the start up level in terms of Business excellence or continuous improvement and are keen to find best practices to compare with. The Task Force on Benchmarking moved to the second step borrowing the European Commission's DG III recommendation that identify benchmarking as an important tool to improve competitiveness of small and medium sized enterprises in Europe according to the methodologies developed and applied in large corporations. With the objective of developing a generally accepted concept and a methodology with wide applicability deeper analyses were then made of Process Benchmarking procedures adopted in the Nordic countries and in The Netherlands. As a result this Manual aims to present well devised guidelines for establishing a management tool based on the use of Process Benchmarking methodologies that will allow future systematic and rigorous performance comparisons to be made within the water industry.
