Powering Empire On Barak,2020-03-03 The Age of Empire was driven by coal and the Middle East as an idea was made by coal Coal s imperial infrastructure presaged the geopolitics of oil that wreaks carnage today as carbonization threatens our very climate Powering Empire argues that we cannot promote worldwide decarbonization without first understanding the history of the globalization of carbon energy How did this black rock come to have such long lasting power over the world economy Focusing on the flow of British carbon energy to the Middle East On Barak excavates the historic nexus between coal and empire to reveal the political and military motives behind what is conventionally seen as a technological innovation He provocatively recounts the carbon intensive entanglements of Western and non Western powers and reveals unfamiliar resources such as Islamic risk aversion and Gandhian vegetarianism for a climate justice that relies on more diverse and ethical solutions worldwide

Dark Nights, Bright Lights Susanne Bach,Folkert Degenring,2015-10-16 Light and darkness shape our perception of the world This is true in a literal sense but also metaphorically in theology philosophy literature and the arts the light of day signifies life safety knowledge and all that is good while the darkness of the night suggests death danger ignorance and evil A closer inspection however reveals that things are not quite so clear cut and that light and darkness cannot be understood as simple binary opposites On a biological level for example daylight and darkness are inseparable factors in the calibration of our circadian rhythms and a lack of periodical darkness appears to be as contrary to health as a lack of exposure to sunlight On a cultural level too night and darkness are far from being universally condemnable in fiction drama and poetry the darkness of the night allows not only nightmares but also dreams it allows criminals to ply their trade and allows lovers to meet it allows the pursuit of pleasure as well as deep thought it allows metamorphoses transformations and transgressions unthinkable in the light of day But night is not merely darkness The night gains significance as an alternative space as an other of the day only when it is at least partially illuminated The volume examines the interconnection of night darkness and nocturnal illumination across a broad range of literary texts The individual essays examine historically specific light conditions in literature tracing the symbolic and metaphoric content of darkness and illumination and the attitudes towards them Environmental Health in the 21st Century Richard V. Crume, 2018-02-08 This concisely written and easy to read resource provides information on emerging issues and valuable historical context that enables students to better understand a broad range of environmental health topics from pollution to infectious diseases natural disasters and waste management As technology enables better insight into the world we live in we are increasingly aware of environmental health concerns and risks from contaminated air and water to infectious diseases and light and noise pollution Because the quality of our lives depends on the quality of our environment everyone should be informed about issues in environmental health Environmental Health in the 21st Century From Air Pollution to Zoonotic Diseases presents hundreds of encyclopedic entries written by expert researchers and practitioners a history of environmental health and interviews with subject experts that broadly survey the field of environmental health The set covers myriad subjects in environmental health including all types of environmental pollution the spread of communicable diseases and other issues in the health sciences waste management practices the effects of climate change on human health children s environmental health concerns environmental health problems unique to the urban environment and emerging threats such as the Zika virus and hospital acquired infections Readers will learn about steps they can take to reduce their environmental risk understand the effects of key international treaties and conventions and the contributions of key figures in environmental health and also reflect on potential solutions for global challenges in environmental pollution health sciences energy and climate waste management and the built environment No other book on the market today addresses the environmental health field in such a comprehensive manner with the latest information provided by expert practitioners all packed into two concise volumes Sensory Tourism Ian S. Jenkins, Robert S. Bristow, 2024-11-13 Tourism offers countless global locations providing a multitude of sensory experiences These include commercialised tourism products such as saunas and floatation tanks through to natural phenomenon such as mountains and wilderness destinations. Consequently sensory elements are a curious concept within tourism because every destination provides a sensory experience of one kind or another. The first of its kind, this book examines holidays and tourism through sensory perceptions which either encourage or deter consumers. It studies sensoryscapes and how they effect and affect tourism at destinations and be linked with the development of tourist niches reflecting the segmenting of the mass market tourism into smaller segments. Finally it reflects on how with increased urbanisation there a growing need is to find quiet spaces free from urban or anthropogenic noise such as silent retreats and dark sky meditation holidays. Escape has always been one of the main components of tourism development together with attraction to spatial locations that match tourists needs. It will be of interest to those studying tourism management as well as wider social science disciplines.

From Light to Dark Tim Edensor, 2017-03-21 Light pervades the world and when it is not light darkness emerges and is combated by electric illumination. Despite this globally shared human experience in which spaces appear radically different depending on time season and weather social science investigation on the subject is meager. From Light to Dark fills this gap focusing on our interaction with daylight illumination and darkness. Tim Edensor begins by examining the effects of daylight on our perception of landscape drawing on artworks particular landscapes and architectural practice. He then considers the ways in which illumination is often contested and can be used to express power looking at how capitalist class ethnic military and state power use lighting to reinforce their authority over space. Edensor also considers light artists such as Olafur Eliasson and festivals of illumination before turning a critical eye to the supposedly dangerous sinister associations of darkness. In examining the modern city as a space of fantasy through electric illumination he studies how we are seeking and should seek new forms of darkness in reaction to the perpetual glow of urban lighting. Highly original and absorbingly written From Light to Dark analyzes a vast array of artistic interventions diverse spaces and lighting technologies to explore these most basic human experiences.

Lighting Design in Shared Public Spaces Shanti Sumartojo, 2022-05-12 This book advocates an approach to lighting design that focuses on how people experience illumination. Lighting Design in Shared Public Spaces contextualises light dark and lighting design within the settings sensations ideas and imaginaries that form our understandings of ourselves and the world around us. The chapters in this collection bring a new perspective to lighting design arguing for an approach that addresses how lighting is experienced understood and valued by people. Across a range of new case studies from Australia Germany Denmark and the United Kingdom the authors account for lighting design s crucial role in shaping our dynamic and messy experiential worlds. With many turning to innovative ethnographic methodologies they powerfully demonstrate how feelings of comfort safety security vulnerability care and well being can configure in and through how people experience and manipulate light and dark. By focusing on how lighting is improvised arranged avoided and composed in relation to the people and things it acts upon the book advances understandings of lighting design by showing how improved experiences of the built environment can result from more sensitive and context specific illumination The book is intended for social scientists who are interested in the lit or sensory world as well as designers architects urban planners and others concerned with how the experience of light dark and lighting might be both better understood and implemented in our shared public spaces The Human and Social Dimension of Urban Lightscapes Daria Casciani, 2020-11-02 This book explores new criteria and characteristics for integrating human psychology in the design of modern urban lighting It identifies a new area of lighting design research and practice that focuses on the nocturnal urban experience in terms of people s emotional cognitive and motivational perceptions to achieve more accessible sociable and sustainable cities In turn the book compares new tools and research methodologies for tackling complex issues concerning the ties between lighting people and the city Moreover it presents a series of case studies to provide an in depth understanding of the influence of urban lighting in terms of luminous atmosphere perception positive social affect social enhancement accessibility and hospitability Lastly the book proposes a multidisciplinary qualitative and quantitative methodology for assessing the spatial experience of outdoor lighting
