CURRICULUM REFORM IN PAKISTAN Amna Afreen, 2022-02-25 I have written this book in an effort to explore how the history of Pakistan has resulted in the critical problems weighing down its education system. The book examines the questions: Why and how has a small elite class come to rule Pakistan? And how has their rule worsened the country's problems? The focus will be to critically examine the elements of the Pakistani national curriculum and madrasas and their effects on Pakistani society. The book represents the fusion of my experiences in Pakistan with extensive literature analysis, interviews, and textbook analysis. This research began when I came to the United States in January 2015 through the SAR program. I wanted to know the answers to profoundly unsettling questions: How can a society be so intolerant that a scholar educated solely in Pakistan is disregarded and assassinated while many Western educated scholars with traditional insular thoughts are not only appreciated but flourishing? I wanted to know why Pakistani elites have so much power and freedom while lower classes are profoundly oppressed. Elites who barely pay taxes have been in power for generations while those that pay taxes suffer from sky-high inflation. The influential religious leaders mostly belong to the elite class while their followers are mostly lower class. Ruling families and social classes mostly control appointed positions. Do those in power not have a responsibility to speak on issues of social justice rather than limiting themselves in claiming that theirs is the only true form of Islam? Why don't they work to end the disparity of quality education between classes in Pakistan? Instead, many elites run their own lucrative elite Islamic schools. More importantly, why do the ulama, which literally means those who possess knowledge, particularly of Islam, maintain a tight hierarchical system in the madrasa (Islamic seminary) community that rarely allows poor intelligent students to attain leadership positions? Why are the ulama silent in the face of ruthless murder of and discrimination against Pakistani minorities? Book Review: Pakistan Educational Reforms is a major study of education in Pakistan and its national and madrasa curriculum that fosters national and religious sectarian divisions, intolerance, and conflicts. Dr. Amna Afreen documents the political, socio-economic, and religious causes, limited government funding, widespread poverty and illiteracy, and the poor training and performance of teachers that have produced a failed educational system at urban and rural government and religious schools. madrasa and offers a series of potential solutions and reforms. John L. Esposito, University Professor and Founding Director of The Alwaleed Center for Muslim-Christian Understanding, Georgetown University. (Re)Constructing Memory: Textbooks, Identity, Nation, and State James H. Williams, Wendy D. Bokhorst-Heng, 2016-07-08 This book engages readers in thirteen conversations presented by authors from around the world regarding the role that textbooks play in helping readers imagine membership in the nation. Authors' voices come from a variety of contexts: some historical, some contemporary, some providing analyses over time. But they all consider the changing portrayal of diversity, belonging, and exclusion in multiethnic and diverse societies where silenced, invisible, marginalized members have struggled to make their voices heard and to have their identities incorporated into the national narrative The authors discuss portrayals of past exclusions around religion ethnicity sexual orientation as they look at the shifting boundaries of insider and outsider This book is thus about who we are not only demographically but also in terms of the past especially how and whether we teach discredited pasts through textbooks The concluding chapters provides ways forward in thinking about what can be done to promote curricula that are more inclusive critical and positively bonding in increasingly larger and more inclusive contexts

Faith and Politics in South Asia Astha Chadha,2024-11-18 This book explores the role of faith and politics in shaping the international relations of South Asia Adopting a neo classical realist framework and a discourse historical approach to analyze how religious actors construct their political identities and interests through the interpretation of sacred texts or exegesis the book makes several key contributions to the field of international relations It introduces the concept of exegesis as a novel analytical tool to understand the role of religion in world politics The book argues that exegesis is not only a theological exercise but also a political one as it shapes the worldviews values norms and interests of religious actors The author applies exegesis to three case studies of South Asia the partition of India and Pakistan the rise of Hindu nationalism in India and the emergence of Islamic radicalism in Pakistan and resurging signs of the same in Bangladesh The research then challenges the conventional assumptions of IR such as the secularization thesis the clash of civilizations and the rational actor model by showing how religious actors are not monolithic homogeneous or irrational but rather diverse heterogeneous and strategic The book offers a nuanced and comprehensive understanding of the role of religion in world politics especially in the context of South Asia Highlighting the diversity and complexity of the religious landscape in South Asia which is home to various faiths sects movements and ideologies this book will be of interest to academics studying global politics international relations Asian Studies and studies on religion and foreign policy
